

Public Opinion Forced Passage Of Michigan Law

Lawrence Assails Failure to Punish Groups Which Defied Courts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Michigan has just passed a new law governing labor relations, and, in some respects, it is a helpful and constructive measure, though, in other respects, it makes labor problems even more complicated as between federal and state authority.

The big question that will be asked, however, is what possible good is any law in the state of Michigan, new or old, when irresponsible elements may defy court orders and go unpunished?

As yet there has been no prosecution of the individuals who committed contempt of court in Flint by refusing to withdraw from General Motors plants where a sit-down strike was being held. Likewise, in Detroit, the order of a court was defied by strikers at the Chrysler plants.

It is true that in the state of Michigan there has been no law hitherto permitting even peaceful picketing and that the act just passed supplies an omission by defining picketing and prohibiting violence. Michigan, however, has done nothing to investigate the circumstances surrounding the failure of the local authorities to enforce the already existing laws of the state with respect to trespassing on private property. Nor has there been revealed the extent to which the governor counseled against law enforcement.

Governor Changes View
The Michigan governor was the victim of persuasion by the Roosevelt administration and in the end found himself in a jam. Governor Davenport of Ohio, confronted by similar tactics on the part of the Washington administration, allowed himself to be ensnared only for a few days and then came out clearly and forcefully for law and order in one of the best statements written yet on the subject of the right to work.

Undoubtedly Governor Murphy was influenced by Washington to withhold the use of force to secure obedience to court orders, but the public does not know the nature of the influence used upon the governor of a sovereign state.

Something of the pressure employed was disclosed by Governor Davenport of Ohio who publicly says that the secretary of labor demanded that he use troops to keep plants closed. Said Governor Davenport in a formal statement:

"It is no doubt appropriate to quote her (Secretary Perkins) exact language in part as follows: 'We must not let the efforts of the mediation board fail. We cannot let our labor friends think we have let them down. I think you ought to keep those mills closed until a settlement is reached.'"

Here is a case of federal power exerted upon the governor of a state with the suggestion that he refuse to furnish protection for property or for the right of workingmen to work. It is an amazing example of federal intervention, and, when all the facts are disclosed as to the parleys over the telephone and in conference between the federal administration in Washington and the governor of Michigan, there may be other evidence of how the federal government attempted to persuade, and in this case did persuade, a governor not to do his duty in obeying existing laws.

Futile Opinion
The new Michigan statute on labor relations was forced by an outraged opinion in the state. In the first place, the act does what the Wagner act failed to do. It insists that employers as well as employees stand on the same footing with respect to insistence on elections and with respect to investigation by a labor board of charges of unfair practices. The Michigan law enumerates the "powers, duties and responsibilities" of the board of industrial relations and among other things says the board has the power, duty and responsibility "to investigate charges of violations of this act by either employers, employees or any organization thereof" and "to conduct such investigations as it shall deem proper for the protection of employees or employers against racketeering, extortion and other unfair practices."

The provisions against picketing by violence are so well drawn that they unquestionably forbid "sit-down" strikes in the future. The new law says: "Picketing is hereby declared to be lawful in this state except under the following conditions and circumstances:

Illegal Picketing
(A) Patrolling or attendance by any persons whether on behalf of a labor organization or otherwise, at or near a place of business or employment affected by a labor dispute, or the residence of any person employed therein or other place where such person may be, in such manner or numbers as to obstruct or otherwise interfere with approach thereto or egress therefrom, or interfere with the free and unimpeded use of a public highway.

(B) Patrolling or picketing in or about any premises or place of business involved in a labor dispute by a person who is neither employed therein nor a party to the dispute nor an official of a labor organization that is a party to the dispute."

But when these things occur, what is the remedy? The courts are instructed to issue injunctions ordering persons to desist from the practices complained of. But supposing the judicial authority of the state of Michigan does not get the executive and enforcing authority, then of what avail is the best statute in the world? This is the real question left unsettled in the state of Michigan.

Red Cross Sounds Warning Against Fourth Accidents

Pleasure Seekers Asked to Remember Danger of Fireworks

With more persons killed or injured celebrating Fourth of July in the last 30 years than there were casualties in the entire Revolutionary war, the Red Cross through a statement from the local chapter, here, sounds a warning against the three elements that might turn next weekend's holiday into years of tragedy—fire, water and motor power.

It was pointed out that 4,044 Americans were killed in action and 6,004 wounded during the Revolutionary war. In the past 30 years, 4,290 persons have met death in Fourth of July accidents, and 96,000 have been injured. The fact was emphasized this is a terrible price to pay in celebration of any victory, especially when caution could prevent most of the tragedy.

Pleasure seekers are being asked to remember three things in celebrating the coming holidays:

Remember how dangerous fireworks can be and use them accordingly. On July 4, 1935, a total of 6,940 accidents resulted from fireworks. Thrown firecrackers resulted in 1,969 mishaps in the nation, firecrackers held in hands, 1,837; put in tin cans and bottles, 385; discharging firearms, 143; toy cannons, 56; using sparklers, 70; matches, 23; and 2,457 other accidents from misuse of pyrotechnic displays.

Use Common Sense
Remember the number of deaths from drowning, averaging more than 7,000 each year. Observe common sense swimming rules that will prevent such an appalling loss of life.

Remember that no matter how hurried you are, or how jubilant you feel, nothing will justify your driving carelessly and without regard for your fellowmen. After a serious accident regrets and remorse will avail you nothing. Use your head and preserve your body as well as the lives of others around you.

"The Red Cross would not like to have the idea engendered in the public's mind that it is a wet blanket organization, pledged to keeping gruesome facts before you as you start on your holiday," the statement continued. "Far from it, for above all we are working for a happier, more pleasant world for everyone. Pursued in the proper manner, such an achievement is not impossible. We seek your cooperation in keeping down accidental deaths and injuries by making your holiday this year a truly 'safe and sane Fourth.'"

Apple and Cherry Crop Outlook Is Bright in State

Bountiful Harvest Is Predicted by Reporting Services

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The outlook for a bountiful crop of apples and cherries in Wisconsin this year is bright, the crop reporting service of the department of agriculture and markets and the United States department of agriculture said today.

The 1937 fruit crops will far exceed the 1936 harvest, the report said, and if the favorable weather continues, the Wisconsin cherry crop this year may be four or five times larger than the very small crop harvested last year. The service reported that the condition of the cherry trees in the state at the beginning of June, indicated a crop this year that would be about 75 per cent greater than the average. Reports of growers showed that very little frost damage was done to the trees this spring.

With the exception of Utah and California all cherry producing states in the nation are expected to have a larger production this year than last year. If present production estimates come true, the nation's 1937 crop will be about 155,560 tons as compared with 113,160 tons last year. The production as estimated for 1936 was nearly average for the country as a whole.

The service pointed out that 1936 was an off-year for apples, and that Wisconsin had a very small crop. Growers this year, however, are looking forward to a much larger production. The crop reporting service stated that at the beginning of June the condition of the trees was about 84 per cent compared with 64 per cent a year ago.

For the country as a whole, conditions on June 1 also indicated that production will be much larger than a year ago, and larger than the average.

The nation's peach and pear crops are also expected to be larger than a year ago. This year's pear crop is expected to be about 31,500,000 bushels, which is considerably above the average year's production. The peach crop, expected to be about 56,100,000 bushels, will be slightly smaller than the average, but larger than 1936.

"DOG DAYS" IN WINTER
Austin, Tex. (AP)—More mad dog cases develop in the winter and spring than in the "dog days" of summer, says Dr. S. W. Bohls of the state department of health. Dogs are more likely to catch cold in winter and spring months, he says, thereby lowering their resistance and making them more susceptible to infection from rabies.

Pay Rolls Push Ahead Despite Labor Battles

BY R. H. HIPPELHEUSER

New York (AP)—Labor was on the march to better times in the first six months of 1937.

There were widespread strikes, long interruptions of work, and internal strife. Nevertheless, the sharp increase in employment and payrolls, well under way in 1936, continued steadily into the new year.

The bureau of labor statistics composite index for employment and payrolls in the manufacturing industries in the first four months of 1937 tells the story (figures are based on the 1923-25 average as 100):

Employment

Jan. Feb. March April

1936 83.0 83.2 84.1 84.1

1937 92.9 94.7 96.6 96.8

Payrolls

1936 72.2 72.3 76.3 77.9

1937 85.6 83.8 89.0 103.6

This is the composite of all manufacturing industries. The increases were sharper in the durable goods industries — machinery, shipbuilding, farm equipment — than elsewhere, for these industries found the heaviest replacement needs.

The course continued upward into May. There was considerable speculation, however, as to whether the steel strikes and other labor disputes, broadening out in June, had leveled off the upward trend.

Strikes Follow Cycle

The course of labor troubles has held to its historic course. Organized labor's strength declines in panics, holds on during the leanest years, and builds anew during the revivals.

In the current upswing of the cycle begun in 1929, a further factor entered the scene — the John L. Lewis Committee for Industrial Organization, with its bitter opposition to the established American Federation of Labor.

The CIO carried its organizational campaign into such basic industries as steel — challenged since the strike of 1919, led by William Z. Foster — and automobiles, rubber and electrical-radio equipment.

Unemployment Drops

The estimates of the National Industrial Conference Board show 45,900,000 persons employed in April in agricultural and non-agricultural pursuits, as compared with 47,360,000 in 1929.

The April total of 11,800,000 workers employed in manufacturing shows a gain of almost five millions over July, 1932, the low for industrial employment. This total, the conference board reports, is half a million above September, 1929, the highest month of employment in the peak times before the Wall street panic. Then, 11,371,000 workers were engaged in all kinds of manufacturing industries.

Although manufacturing employment is above 1929, the April totals are behind 1929 in such industries as construction, agriculture, transportation, utilities, mining.

The April estimate of unemployment was 6,981,000 persons, as compared with 8,325,000 in April, 1936. In the march back to work in 1937, the unemployment rolls decreased 1,400,000 persons from January through April.

In such estimates as those of the National Industrial Conference Board, it is generally computed that around five million persons of the total unemployed are accounted for by those who came of age ready and prepared for jobs, in the years after the crash.

Propose Relocation Of State Highway 32

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Elimination of dangerous curves and grades on Highway 32 in Octonto and Shawano counties was approved by both houses of the legislature this week in the passage of a bill directing the state highway commission to relocate and extend the highway. The bill has been sent to Governor LaFollette for signature.

The new route will cut off 2 1/2 miles and will eliminated one railroad crossing. The highway will extend from Green Valley straight north to a junction with highway 22, and then 2 1/2 miles east to Gillett. At present it runs west from Green Valley.

Set Up New Red Cross First Aid Stations

New emergency Red Cross highway first aid stations have been set up in several states recently, bringing the total now operating in all states to 1,694 with 3,326 additional stations in preparation, according to a bulletin received at the Outagamie county Red Cross headquarters.

There also are 690 first aid mobile units functioning, the latter established through the cooperation of public utility and other trucking groups. In midwestern states there are 644 highway posts established and 1,349 promised.

THE RUNNING DEBATE IN THE FOOL'S COLLEGE

Those of Red tendencies who admire the man Trotsky, whether for his whiskers or his system of mass assassinations, have written and printed much concerning a thing called Lenin's Testament.

According to this, interesting story Lenin, a sort of Mongolian seer, or because of the hallucinations of his last sickness, was able to read the minds of men and therefore estimate their worth with a miraculous precision, and, in doing so, discarded Josef Stalin as a mental and physical lunk and funk, and pointed his bony finger at Trotsky as a Soviet saint with a halo of light, or perhaps a smear of blood, all over his countenance which for some unaccountable reason heaven chose to fashion like a hyena's, perhaps to hide the beatific loveliness of his soul.

The testament, of course, interferes with the creation, back of the slanting Soviet brows, of Lenin as an All-Wise because the lunky-hunky Stalin is in the chair of the czars and Trotsky finds that Mexican tamales will even bite his red hot tongue.

The upholders of Stalin, and receivers of state support by reason of his power, are not to be so easily outdone. They have prodded the wastebaskets and the cathalls of Russia, Switzerland and America, wherever Lenin happened to wander looking for a crust of bread before his great day arrived, and fished out a good many letters in which he referred to his brothers of the dagger and the bomb.

In one of these letters he mentions the dearly beloved Trotsky as a swine. But that shouldn't be taken in its literal sense.
A swine is a friendly word in Russia.
So many of the people live on a par with the swine that it would be only a foolish pride for them to look down upon the lowly animals, and yet it is true from all appearances Lenin did call Trotsky a swine. And in other letters he refers to him as a "lackey of opportunism" which indicates a sharp sort of anger because when a real Soviet abandons such ordinary words as swine and leaps to the high collegiate phrases then indeed is he out to do destruction.

Yet neither of these battling Red factions strikes to the heart of things.

Each assumes that Lenin is divine, as much divine as anything could be under the Reds, and the struggle is merely to see whether in the course of his ravings and frothings he cursed out Trotsky or Stalin the more.

It might be more accurate, and certainly quite interesting to inquire into the sort of man that Lenin was, and the character of his mental apparatus. The physicians imported from Germany who treated him in his last sickness diagnosed the ailment from which he died as that which until recently has not been published openly in American papers because most people have been sensitive to the manner of its contraction. Nevertheless its inroads on the mental machinery of a man, and often his spinal column in addition,
is usually described as creating a corrupt or decayed condition. There are mental authorities who assert that much of the dementia praecox ascribed as the cause for the furious slayings by those who carry its dread plight, originate in the same disorder.

We suppose that in the course of time these facts will be admitted by the battling Reds who will continue the debate indefinitely. When the nature of Lenin's last sickness is so recognized the debate however should resolve itself into this question: Did the decaying condition of the Soviet saint's mental apparatus result in ordinary insanity or did it lift the man up until he had a supernatural insight into the hearts and heads of men?
And yet those who will uphold the latter phase of the proposition are dangerously close to apostasy, finding themselves in open hostility with doctrine No. 1 in the Soviet book of rules and which says there isn't anything supernatural.

In the meantime, however, it may be freely admitted that Lenin said Stalin was treacherous and Trotsky was a swine.
And who will be so bold as to say him wrong?

TAXES AND JUSTICE

The experience of Mr. Braddock, erstwhile champion, with the income tax law will indicate some of its difficulties and perversities.

Mr. Braddock has been working something like 12 years to get into big money.

Supposing we take, as an example, Joe Appleton who works the same number of years only with a little different success and compare their records with the government treasury.

Mr. Appleton earned, let us say, $25,000 a year for those 12 years, $300,000 in all.
He would have paid, under prevailing regulations and conditions, about $30,000 income tax into the national treasury.

But Mr. Braddock has a wholly different line of luck. During 11 of the 12 years of his career he didn't pay anything into the national treasury. Part of the time the treasury was supporting him.
Part of the time he picked up an occasional fight and a hundred dollar bill.
And then he struck pay dirt. In his fight with Louis his share of the purse was approximately $300,000. A little over half of that goes to the national government.
About half of the remainder goes for trainers, managers, touters, and all sorts of expenses. Yes, $160,000 to the government, and a net of about $70,000 to Braddock after expenses that were necessary.

For when the government catches you with a big purse it gouges.

Yet the man who earned $25,000 a year got no more than Braddock in the 12-year period. And he is still working for $25,000 a year and expects to continue so to work, while Braddock is through. True, Braddock may pick up a few thousand here or there but that is merely trailing off into obscurity. Otherwise, Braddock is through.

Income taxation has its difficulties and its rank injustices. The Braddock case as compared to that of Joe Appleton shows that plainly enough. The law cuts a slice out of man's life and calls it a year and judges everything by that year.

We don't suppose this inequity can be corrected. And there are other injustices that can never be ironed out in the taxation laws and other laws, too.

In the meantime Mr. Braddock better hang on carefully to the comparatively small amount he really saves out of his great chance.

FOOLISH WAR TALK

England's new prime minister spoke these sober words in relation to the European war danger:

"Although the snow may be peri-ously poised it has not yet begun to move. If we can all exercise caution, patience and self-restraint we may yet be able to save the peace of the world."

Comparing the conduct of men under stress to the gathering avalanche that may sweep down the hillside with a furious roar and bitter death was apt although ordinarily the forces that are pent up in an avalanche gather quietly, with only now and then a sharp bark or a deep rumble, and start upon their course of destruction almost with the speed of a bullet.

To Mr. Chamberlain's admonition
"Keep cool" labor and liberal leaders turned grimacing countenances. Lloyd George opined that "Fish have no difficulty in keeping cool" and we presume the thoughtless, and particularly the riff-raff, chuckled.

Englishmen and English periodicals have noted with alarm a growing tendency among many Englishmen to throw down the gauntlet to the bellicose Hitler and Mussolini and go to war. That this sort of attitude should be taken by both labor and liberal party leaders is probably an indication of the churning ideas among masses of their followers.

And here is a development so soon forgotten and so seldom reckoned among the causes that move nations to war.
The same gestation was evident in America from 1914 until our declaration of war. For although war is horrible it has a fascination, and although it is pain and death, men, confronted with such dangers over a period of time, become mured to their threats and are often very willing to grapple with them. In other words the longer a condition of war exists the more likely will others be drawn into it. And that is a danger in the European situation that is not as yet sufficiently appreciated and guarded against.

It is estimated that one-third of the 15,000 college students in the District of Columbia have federal government positions working for Uncle Sam in the day and attending classes at night.

Retail merchants in the United States do 67.8 per cent of their business for cash or on the C.O.D. basis, 21.3 per cent on open account and 10.9 per cent on the installment basis.

The middle Atlantic states account for nearly 26 per cent of the retail sales in the country.
For 21 per cent of the nation's population live there on only 3.3 per cent of the land area.

Government scientists who guard wild ducks and geese will penetrate three regions north of the Arctic circle this summer in a survey of wild fowl nesting grounds.

The average adult evaporates about a tenth of a pound of moisture an hour. Under the influence of an exciting movie melodrama, this amount may increase by 50 per cent.

Bindweed, the midwest's public weed enemy
No. 1, can be eradicated by summer tillage at less than $10 an acre, says Dr. F. D. Keim, Nebraska Agricultural College agronomist.

The manuscript collections in the steel vaults of the public library in Moscow are rivaled in value only by those in the British Museum and the French National Library.

RANDOM mental wanderings . . . Fourth of July starts about June 15th around here and Lord knows when the explosions will stop . . . wonder why some gals parading downtown don't realize that their winter make-up looks crude when the summer sun strikes it
. . . Funny how I had to build a furnace fire on June 25 after almost catching a heat stroke on June 24 . . . natural that I can't stop talking about the young pro who won a car in a contest . . . odd that two of my staunchest contributors figured that I ever wanted to squelch them—this column being a give-and-take proposition with no holds barred and me frequently on the receiving end . . .

THAT QUESTION WAS NO SQUELCH

Jonah:

Long checkered years of experience have taught us the futility of arguing with the male contingency. Therefore we are willing to concede a point and admit that David Lawrence and Broke Carter are big frogs in big puddles. We might even go so far as to say that they are great big frogs in great big ponds.

But after many moons of reading, analyzing, dissecting and trying to digest what these worthy gentlemen have to say, and despite the squelching Jonah handed us in a recent P. M., we still steadfastly maintain that FDR is a big man, destined to become great.

— MRS. G. W.

Let me reiterate: FDR is a big man and no one will say you may when you so speak, Mrs.
G. W. Also big men are Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini. So was Stanley Baldwin. So is John Lewis.

But, in a free country, bigness should be no shield against honest criticism and vigorous opo-sition. To me, many of FDR's activities are inexcusable. His policy, as worked out by Cordell Hull, regarding foreign trade and re-ciprocally agreements with such as Canada is, on the other hand, a splendid one in my opinion. In fact, I'm a Democrat when it comes to international trade agreements.

THEY USED TO SAY THAT ABOUT THE DEMOCRATES, TOO

Pumpkin Center

Jonah:

The Republicans got a great future, behind
'em.

When I know before I read it what's going to be in an article, I don't read it. I can't get any education that way. That's why I don't read David Lawrence.

Looks like an interview given by a grouchy, disgruntled old banker returning from Europe and a coronation that he failed to see, is going to help plug the loopholes in the income tax law. He said it was all right to suck eggs if you could hide the shells. Something like that, anyway.

And speaking of that coronation, maybe the Baldwin government and the Archbishop of Canterbury did prevent the Duke of Windsor from having his embarrassing moments. Now, supposing royalty was passing in review, and the multitude was shouting, "England my En-land," and "God save the King," and Edward as king had called for three cheers for his queen, some voice from the multitude might have spoken out of turn and said she was once his queen, too.

— Ezekiel Sodbuster

Dig up the Democratic platforms of 1932 and 1936 sometime and read them, Zeke. David Lawrence didn't write 'em either, but you'd sometimes think so.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

GRANDMOTHER IN TOWN

You do not match this modern room;
That chair was never meant for you.
You're a rocker near the bloom
Of red geraniums . . . Your view—
Your knitting bag in its old place
Beside you. Your kind hand still yields Bright needles with so quaint a grace.

You do not match these changing times.
You're a much more peaceful folk.
The clock at home had lazy hours away
And gravely ticked the hours away . . .
You had long, tranquil evenings spent
With books and talk and loving friends.
You really knew what friendship meant.
And will until your journey ends.

You do not match this garden spot.
There was no artificial pool
In that old-fashioned fragrant plot
Where I once lingered after school
There were moss roses, mignonette—
The homely blossoms you held dear!
You do not match our house, and yet
How glad we are to have you here!

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, July 1, 1927

Out of gasoline and groping blindly through fog and rain to find a safe haven, the trans-Atlantic plane America descended safely in the sea off the coast of Normandy. Commander Richard E. Byrd was navigator of the monoplane.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the register of deeds by the George M.
Danke company of Neenah, capitalized at $25-000. The officers listed are: George M.
Danke, president; Albert Johnson, vice president; and M. E. Wilcox, secretary and treasurer.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, July 3, 1912

Andrew Hoffman, 52, was so seriously injured about 11:30 the previous Wednesday evening when he bit a torpedo, thinking it was candy, and it exploded in his mouth, that his death resulted early that morning.

The state railroad commission Wednesday granted authority to the Wisconsin State Telephone company to purchase the property and lines of the Fox River Valley Telephone company of Appleton for $335,000. Of this amount $125,000 is to be paid in cash at the time of the transfer and the balance will be in promissory notes.

THERE MIGHT BE A DRIVING LESSON IN IT FOR US.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

NOW SEE HERE WHAT DID I TELL YOU

Please do not advise elderly people, at least, to regard the act of elimination in the casual way you have heretofore, admonishes one of my correspondents. It seems an elderly person succumbed while straining, and the doctor's verdict was that the effort of straining had caused a weak heart.

There are several words in this admonition which I don't like. First I take exception to the use of the term "elimination" in that way. It is not elimination, nor exertion, but defecation. Even Dr. Webster who is always flexible in definition does not attempt to substitute these words for defecation. Then, although manifestly not squeamish, I cringe a bit at the use of the term "verdict" when it is perfectly clear that the correspondent means merely conjecture or surmise.

Finally, I object to the implication that I advise straining. On the contrary my advice is never to strain or fuss about the movement of the bowel. Let it alone. Pay no attention to it, except to answer the call when it comes or when you can conveniently do so. If the call doesn't come on schedule, no matter. Let it go.

Let it go how long? Never mind.
Do you intend to follow my advice or that of some quack whose notions are more to your liking?
I don't care how badly you have disarranged things with your internal interference. Let it alone, forget it, put your mind on other things and nature will resume control just as soon as you let go for good.

The great trouble with you wiseacres is that you think you know more than I do about physiology and pathology. If you feel that way all right. Go on. It is nothing to my young life. I'm just telling you.
Take it or leave it. But for goodness sake don't try to cajole me.
Don't make a half-hearted start and then, the moment you realize you are about to try an experiment, go back to your pillow as your fancy "aid" whatever it may be.

I have done my damndest to make you wiseacres see how you got that way. I have been penalized, in fact, for my efforts in your behalf. There are interests that resent popular health education. I'd like to have you meet some of them some day.
From the cradle up you have been constantly frightened by the bogeyman of "auto-intoxication" if you get too far away from the pill box.
My feeble voice is audible to millions of you, but many being wiseacres, can't understand the simple physiological truth. I'm sorry for you, but there's nothing more I can do about it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Blood Count
What is meant by low blood count? What causes it? How can it be corrected? (Mrs. M. D.)

Answer—In health the blood contains approximately five million red corpuscles, seven thousand white corpuscles in the cubic millimeter.
In anemia from any cause the number of red corpuscles is decreased.
The cause and correction of low blood count are questions for your physician to answer—no one else can.

What, Another?
Our first two babies, now four and six years of age, did very well on Old Doctor Brady's system. We are looking forward to the coming of a little brother. We have the bulletin on Prenatal Care you recommended. Any other suggestions? (W.

Answer—Send ten cents coin and stamped addressed envelope for booklet "Preparing for Maternity."

Charleyhorse

My daughter, sixteen, plays basketball on her school team. She has a swelling on her calf, which was extremely painful at first, and is still quite sore when she hikes, dances or tries to play strenuously.
(Mrs. S. T.)

Answer—Probably charleyhorse—muscle cells or fibres ruptured, or tendon torn originally from too violent exercise before the muscles were sufficiently "warmed up."
Nothing to be done about it now.
Moderate exercise, massage, hasten healing.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"
If July 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m.

This day, preceding Independence day, calls for paternal vigilance, for children may invest in Fourth of July fireworks, that cause injuries. Firmness is a characteristic that will be needed in handling many situations this day, and any lack of it may prove to be a sad mistake. Sentimental verbal expressions require very careful phrasing, or some misconception is liable to be placed on the motive back of them. Be very careful about making personal comments about acquaintances, for they are liable to be repeated in distorted fashion. In selecting or deciding on colors this day be cautious of the light in which you examine them, for there will be a variation in tints according to the illumination they are subjected to. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love must be careful not to throw cold water on enthusiasm, if they wish to escape a controversy and resentment.

If a woman and July 3 is your birthday, your courage may be tested, as a preparatory step to bigger and better things. Do not be a rolling stone, for it is advisable for you to concentrate your efforts on learning to do one thing well, rather than a number 1—slipshod manner. You most likely are very curious, and capable of assimilating a vast amount of knowledge. You ought to have little difficulty in remembering the names and important details pertaining to business matters. Verbal agreements invariably will involve you in trouble where business transactions are concerned, so always insist on having an important understandings in black and white. As a broker, model, dress or beauty shop manager, author, artist or missionary you ought to be very successful.
Love probably will regulate your domestic affairs, so the chances are you will be very happy as a married woman.

The child born on July 3, generally, as it merges from childhood into youth, displays a gratifying amount of versatility, which argues well for a successful future.
If a man and July 3 is your natal day, a ready tongue, a fast-working brain, and a vivid imagination, ought to enable you to accomplish wonders. As a playwright, builder, musician, lawyer, politician or physician you may become famous.

A Bystander
In Washington

This is the second in a series of three columns on a "planned nation."

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—One of the possibilities critics see in the new wage-hour bill is that, extended to a degree, it could be used to exercise vast control over industry.

Some of the problems involved in such control were suggested in this column yesterday.

The wage-hour bill contains some of the machinery of a real planned industry in which a central planning board might conceivably be called upon to determine the whole production of all industry. Planned industry, as usually defined, goes that far. The country is no wise near that yet, but NRA, AAA, the Guffey coal act, TVA and some of the measures now before congress seem to point speculatively in that direction.

'CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS' OPENS TODAY

One of the great sea stories of modern literature, Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen comes to the screen of the Rio theater today with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of "Captains Courageous." With Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas in the leading roles. The picture comes to Appleton direct from its roadshow exhibitions in the key cities at advanced prices, but will be presented here intact and at regular admission.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The old show-must-go-on stuff is taking a bit of a beating in Hollywood, and it seems to me it is about time.

Many an actor will tell you it is a vital tradition of the stage. So the stories multiply. An actor who merely broke a leg just at curtain-time wouldn't dream of asking for any attention that might interfere with the show. An actress who suddenly an Alp-climbing temperature would go through three acts of feverish gaiety behind her burning make-up, and collapse dramatically in the wings at the final curtain. Come war, come flood, come storm, come death and famine and disease—the show must go on.

Many an actor has told me dramatically and not without indignation at the question—that the show must go on. And given me reasons. A trouper does not disappoint the audience. He cannot let down his manager. He cannot betray his fellow-players. He cannot fail the backstage help. He is the keystone of the theatrical arch, and—the show must go on!

For one performance on the stage this sounds logical, even fine and noble. For completing a motion picture some of the same selfish reasoning may be in order.

But there ought to be a limit. Or a law.

When a player is ill, the film company can "shoot around" him for a time at least. When a star is too ill to resume work after all the other scenes have been completed, the company has to halt production. This is expensive. It plays merry hell with the production schedule. Lesser players who counted on checks from the picture must recount their chickens for a future hatching. It is very sad.

But not nearly so sad as a funeral. Not nearly so expensive as the permanent loss of a star. Not nearly so hard on the supporting cast and extras as the loss of all the days and weeks and months of

Tarr Back From Library Conclave

Was Chairman of College And Reference Section At Convention

Miss Anna M. Tarr, librarian at Lawrence college, has returned from the fifty-ninth annual conference of the American Library association in New York city, where more than 5,000 librarians, library trustees, and others interested in library work assembled to discuss topics connected with the profession.

More than 17,000 members of library associations gathered in the city at the same time to consider problems of their profession, Miss Tarr reported. At least 7 other associations held their meetings there because of the American Library association meetings.

Harrison Warwick Caver, librarian of the Engineering Societies Library of New York, was chosen as president of the Association for the coming year, Miss Tarr stated, and Milton J. Ferguson, Brooklyn, was named vice president. Mathew S. Dudgeon, Milwaukee, was elected treasurer.

Miss Tarr has for the past year been chairman of the college and reference library section, and programs and meetings of this group were held under her direction. She met with the college library advisory board, a closed meeting of selected college presidents and college librarians who discussed the relationships between college library and administrative problems. Miss Tarr also met with the committee on library revenues.

Future work that star's pictures would provide.

Some of that show-must-go-on spirit doubtless contributed to the death of Jean Harlow, who didn't give up in time. And it has been the indirect cause of other deaths. Renee Adoree, on the verge of consumptive relapse, insisted on finishing her last picture. She did. Ironically, I can't remember off-hand what the picture was, or what it was about.

Negative Reasoning Is Reliable Measuring Rod

NEGATIVE REASONING
(Copyright, 1937, Ely Culbertson)
"Negative reasoning," is perhaps the most reliable measuring rod that can be employed in bridge. Bids that would have been made if the situation had been so and so, cards that must be in such and such a hand because, if it were otherwise, a certain play would have been inevitable — these are the deductions that point the way to success. East's splendid defense in the hand shown below was nothing but the result of negative reasoning.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 spade 2 clubs 2 spades 3 hearts
2 spades Pass 4 spades 5 clubs
Pass Pass 5 spades Pass Pass Pass

West opened the club king and, after studying the dummy, shifted to a trump. Declarer won, ruffed a club in dummy, and then returned to his hand with a second trump. The deuce of hearts followed and, when West played low, dummy's nine forced East's king.

At this point East settled down for some intensive thinking. South's opening bid, in the light of the cards already played and in sight, clearly marked him with the diamond ace and probably a lower diamond honor as well. West's vulnerable two club overcall must have been based on four clubs. Declarer's play had been further evidence of this fact. West could not have a singleton heart, because in that event, he would have jumped at the opportunity to lead the singleton after having held the club king. This reasoning led to the certain conclusion that declarer had started with six spades, four diamonds, two clubs and one heart, and pointed out the proper defense.

After winning the heart king, East led back with a low heart. Declarer was placed in a tough spot by this excellent defense. As it happened, he could have made his contract by taking a backward diamond finesse, i. e., by leading the diamond Jack through West. But this would have been virtually a double-dummy play and, therefore, no particular appropriateness should be heaped on South for losing the hand. He ruffed East's heart return (one diamond discard on the hearts would do him no good) and played the diamond suit, leading to the king and finessing back to his jack.

It should be observed that any other return by East after winning the heart king would have made matters easy. On a club return, while ruffing in the dummy, then his proper percentage play would be to lead the heart queen through East. This would drop West's jack and provide a discard for another diamond. A diamond return by East would have taken the guess out of the diamond situation and, lastly, the attempted cashing of the heart ace would have established two heart tricks in dummy.

TODAY'S QUESTION: Question: Dealer opened the bidding with one no trump. Next hand passed. What is third hand's proper response with ♠ Q 8 ♥ K Q 8 6 2 ♦ K 9 5 2 7 6 7 ♣ A 8 7 6 5 4 3 2?

Answer: Three no trump.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-JOTTE POINTER
My opponent dealt and the turned trump was the seven of spades. My hand was: ♠ J 10 J ♣ J 10 ♠ J. Should I accept the turned trump? No, you should pass. Of course, you have the requirements for a bid, since you have the honor meld of 100 points and surely can win a trick with the jack of trumps if the hand is played at a trump suit. But you should pass spades in the hope that your opponent will accept. If he does, you can double and thereby score his points as well as your own. If dealer passes, however, you now should bid diamonds and you will have lost nothing by your first pass.

Old Gardener Says:

By E. I. Farrington
Sometimes in summer the water in pools becomes slimy and green. This is caused by millions of tiny plants called algae growing in the water. This green slime can be made to disappear, without injury to the fish, by the careful use of copper sulphate. Only a very small amount of copper sulphate should be used. About a teaspoonful in a pool ten feet by ten feet is sufficient. Copper sulphate is very heavy and will sink to the bottom of the pool if allowed to go its own way. The best way is to place the crystals in cloth bags and wave the bag in the surface of the water for a few seconds. If the copper sulphate is used in larger quantities than those indicated, or allowed to remain in the pool very long, there is danger of killing the fish.

Making Air Travel Safer

V-In The Future
In this series, we have seen that air lines have made important progress toward safety during the past 10 years. We also have seen that air travel still has grave dangers in it.

A giant new air-conditioned liner.

What about the future? Will there be better control of landing, perhaps "automatic" control for every plane? Will an invention be made to keep an airplane from burning up if the pilot does not shut off the motors before a crash? Will ways be found to keep airplanes from striking mountains? Those questions are for the future to answer, but I am hopeful that every one will be answered with a big "Yes." We have entered the age of flying, and we must solve all problems which have to do with safety.

One of the interesting things now under way is an attempt to conquer a high altitude for regular transport service. A large aviation company, the TWA, is making tests, and at some future date, hopes to be able to have its planes skim through the air regularly at the height of about six miles. At such a height, the temperature is often 30 degrees below zero on a summer day. That may sound as if it would be too cold up there, but it is possible to build snug airplane cabins, and to heat them so the passengers would have a warm enough place to ride in. At such a height, it would also be necessary for oxygen to be added to the air breathed by the passengers.

The reason for flying so high is to get above storms. Hundreds of tests of temperature and weather have been made with balloons sent up for checking purposes. The company also has sent D. W. Tomlinson, a pilot, on exploring trips, and he has learned a great number of useful facts.

If that upper level comes to be used for regular transport, "super-charger" planes will reach it in half an hour or less after leaving the ground. Then the passengers will have a clear, free path hundreds of miles ahead of them. The tallest mountain peaks will be far below, and there will be no need to fear a collision with one of them.

A far-seeing plan of that kind is something for which we can honor the aviation industry. Before writing the stories in this series, I sent letters to several aviation companies asking them to give me data on what they were doing to provide greater safety. All replied that they were working hard to make air travel safer.

Bubble Bath Is Beauty's New Luxury

BY ELSIE PIERCE
THE evolution of the bath has been an interesting cycle. From Roman elegance, a luxury known only to a few, to the Saturday night tradition, then the daily, brisk, business-like scrubbing and now a luxury once more. This time, however, it is a luxury that instead of being enjoyed by the minority can be enjoyed by millions. It's the bubble bath.

And, the soap bubbles you made as a child are nothing compared to the creamy bubbles of the latest bath luxury. Little transparent paper sacks of fragrant crystals are the makings of the bubble bath. You pour the crystals of one of the paper sacks directly under the water spout of the tub, then open the hot and cold water faucets at whatever temperature you wish and the light, billowy bubbles fill the tub.

One virtue of this bubble bath that is particularly worthy of praise is its neutralizing power of harsh elements in hard water. If you plan to travel or vacation in a hard-water spot these watersoftening crystals are a fine thing to have with you. Hard water has a harsh effect on skin and hair, fails to cut soap curd, causes irritation. The bubble bath has other virtues, too. It is stimulating and refreshing and should therefore be a splendid beauty aid this summer. More claims that you dry quicker and that the won't be the faintest trace of that damp, rather sticky feeling you get right after an ordinary bath.

After the bath, you open the drain and swirl water around the tub only to find that the disagreeable ring around the bathtub is pleasantly absent.

Rinse For The Hair
The bubble bath is said to be a fine rinse for the hair too, leaving it soft and lustrous after regular washing.

All in all this fragrant, refreshing, water-softening, little luxury is something to play with this summer. It's supposed to spell relaxation to tired nerves, too.

This brings us back to the observation that bathing has come up a peg from the ranks of a cleanliness "must" to a lovely, luxurious beauty aid.

My complete new booklet "Reduce by Diet" (Booklet 201) and "Reduce by Exercise" (Booklet 202) are yours for ten cents each. They cover the subjects thoroughly. Send for them giving your name and full address to The Bell Library, care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y.

Rub them, especially the finger tips, with some soothing ointment like cold cream, warm olive oil, whatever comforts the tingling finger-ends. Remove all ragged edges, all dry skin. Polish the nails to a high polish because teeth, dislike polished nails, and that dislike calls the child's conscious mind to the state of affairs.

Scolding and nagging won't help. Search for the root of the trouble and do what is possible to remove it. Care for the finger-ends. In time, if you persist, and try to help intelligently, the child will win his freedom. He would be free if he could right now.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

A B C'S IN MANNERS
1—My sister goes to business and hasn't as much time to write this letter as I have, which is why she asked me to write in her place. Sister sees a great deal of one young man but they quarrel a lot, all because he feels that she should not expect him to come all the way here to then take her all the way back down-town where all the restaurants and theaters are located. But the real quarrel is about driving her home after they have been somewhere to spend the evening. You see he lives on the other side of this big city and there is no street to take from downtown to our house that is not heavily travelled. He thinks that the trip out to our house and back across town again to where he lives is too much for any girl to expect who knows him so well, when he could so easily put her on a bus which takes her very near to our house. Sister feels that no man, no matter how well she knows him, should ask her to go home alone when he has a car.

Answer: Asking her to meet him in a restaurant lobby when, let us say, he has to work late at the office and going far uptown to get her would make them late at the theatre, is reasonable and therefore is not improper. But in the evening he must certainly take her home! Even if he had no car he could not possibly let a young woman go home late at night by herself. In this particular case his unwillingness to drive her home is not only improper but shabby. If it is necessary that he get up very early next morning and the journey to her house is really far, then he should limit his invitations to Saturday evening, which would allow him to sleep later on a Sunday morning.

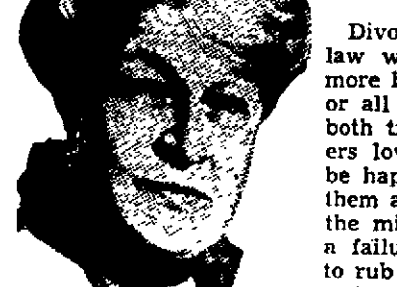

2—Mother has allowed me to spend the week-end occasionally at the home of a "boy friend." His mother has always asked me and his family have always been very generous in showing me a good time. His visits to see me at my house are usually limited to driving over on a Sunday, since he lives about sixty miles away. I think that it would be nice to invite him to our house for a week-end, especially on in town to which I would like to ask him on a Saturday evening. But mother is positive in her belief that it would not do to ask a young man who is not a fiance. Is this true?

Answer: There may be many reasons why your mother does not care to have house guests, but certainly not even in the prime Nineties was it thought improper that a young man stay in the home of a girl's parents. In fact, it is far more conventional that a man go and stay at a girl's house than that she should stay with his family.

Young Couples Should Not Make Homes With In-Laws

When a young couple get married all of their relatives, friends and acquaintances load them down with good advice. Doubtless this is well, for the matrimonial road is a difficult and dangerous one to travel, and a bride and bridegroom need plenty of red lights hung out before its pitfalls. Those who need most to be told to watch their steps are not the boy and girl who are starting out on the great adventure, but their mothers.

DOROTHY DIX

alienate husbands and wives and sow dissension between them. It is just that they can't bear for their children to love any one else better than they do them, or to have a life apart from them, and because it is constitutionally impossible for them to keep their fingers out of their children's pies.

Now to any mother who desires her children's marriages to be happy and successful I would humbly offer these suggestions:

First, Be rational about your children's marriages. Take them in your stride and as something that was just bound to happen in the course of nature. Don't weep and lament and beat upon your breast and talk about how lonely you will be when you lose your precious Sally or your darling Tom. And don't act as if the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law is a kidnaper who has captured your little innocent through nefarious means.

Nobody wants to be taken into a family on sufferance. The icy welcome that Mother gives many a bride and bridegroom chills their budding affection for her and kills all their desire to be a real daughter or son to her.

Never let the bridal couple come to live with you. Make them set up their own home or go to live among strangers. Every young married couple is bound to have spats while they are adjusting themselves to each other. If they are alone they fight it out and kiss and make up. Not a scratch remains to tell of the fracas. But, if Mother sits on the sidelines cheering John on to stand up for his rights and show who is master, or telling Mary not to put up with such talk from any man, wounds are given that never heal.

Also there is no human being of whom a young husband is so jealous as he is of his wife's mother, nor is there any siren whom a young wife views with such a jaundiced eye as she does her husband's mother. It is natural that a girl who has been brought up to believe that Mother knows best should still regard her as an oracle after marriage, and say: "Mother says we should do so-and-so." And that a man who has always adored his mother and been chummy with her should still enjoy her company even after he takes unto himself a wife. But honeymooners never understand this, and the mother who doesn't want to make trouble has to eliminate herself as a rival by fading out of the picture.

Never criticize your children's mates to them. If May thinks John a Prince Charming and Tom considers Angelina a Miss America, let it ride. Don't disturb their illusions. Pointing out all of John's faults and foibles to Mary merely makes her disgruntled with her husband and red with anger. Picking him out for a husband, calling Tom's attention to all of Angelina's defects and shortcomings merely disillusion him and makes him think he has got a bad bargain. Half of the wives wouldn't know that they had missed their real mates, half of the husbands would never find out that their wives are extravagant and glad to march if their mothers hadn't told them.

Never let your children come to you with the tales of their husbands' and wives' faults and of how discontented they are with their marriages. Talking things over makes them grow and turns little faults into major grievances and makes peccadilloes a crime. Mother's sympathy has fanned many a misunderstanding into a flame of anger and resentment that burned down a home and half-orphaned little children. When your children are at odds with their mates and with marriage, give them a brace instead of pity. Tell them to be men and women and to stand up and take it instead of coming home to Mother.

And, finally, court your children's husbands and wives and make friends of them. That will make for their happiness and yours. It is a grand relationship, that of in-laws, if you know how to handle it.

Chicago Chicken Legs
1 pound veal 2 tablespoons steak 2 chopped green peppers 1 pound pork 2 tablespoons steak 2 chopped celery 1 cup flour 2 tablespoons salt 1 teaspoon onion 1 cup paprika 1-cup boiling water 4 tablespoons fat

Have the butcher cut one-third inch pieces of veal and pork into one-inch squares. Alternate these on wooden or metal skewers. Sprinkle with the flour and seasonings. Melt fat in a frying pan. Add and cook for 5 minutes the peppers, celery and onions, stirring constantly with a fork, and quickly brown the "chicken." Add water and put on a lid. Lower fire and cook 25 minutes. Inspect frequently and turn to allow even browning. If the pan seems dry add a little more boiling water. Surround with the vegetables and serve on a small platter.

Buttermilk Spice Cake
1-3 cup fat 1 teaspoon cloves 1 cup light brown sugar 1 teaspoon nutmeg 1 egg 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon vanilla 2-3 cup buttermilk 11 cups flour 11 cups soda

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of the ingredients and beat one minute. Pour into a shallow pan lined with waxed paper and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Cool and frost with white icing.

Grapefruit is better if allowed to stand over night after the center has been removed and a little sugar has been sprinkled over the top to draw out the juice.

A simple test for determining when the waffle iron is hot enough for the batter is this: Put a teaspoon of water in the iron, close, and when the steam ceases coming out, the iron is ready for the batter.

Nail-Biting Is Tough Habit to Break in Child

BY ANGELO PATRI
Nail-biting is a mean habit for a child to suffer under, and a very difficult one to remedy. Somehow it gets in down deep and no matter what rewards and punishments are used to destroy it, back it comes at the very first moment of abstraction.

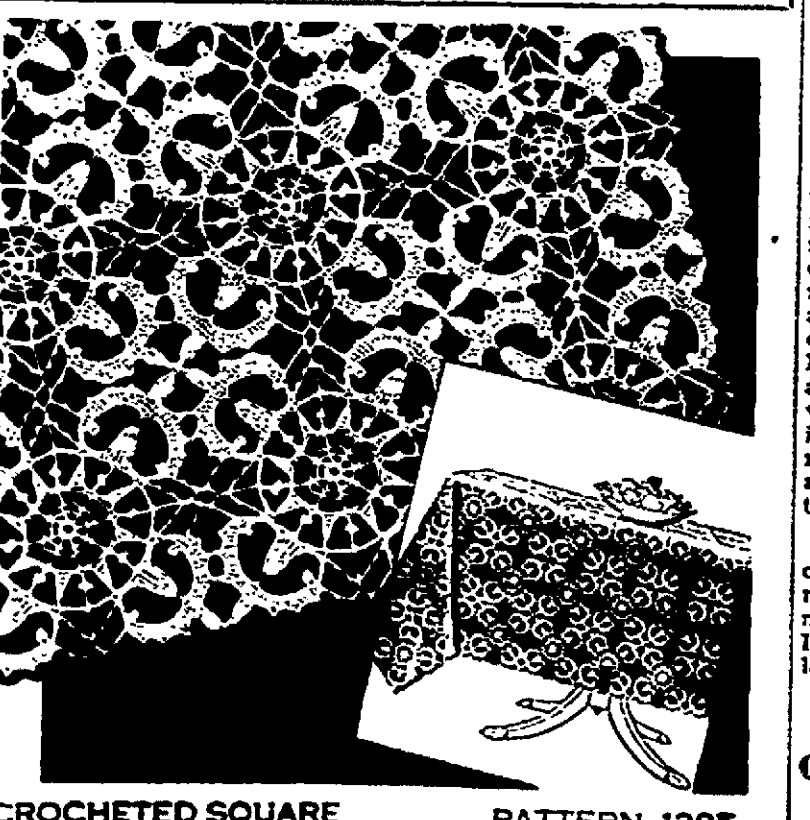

The chewed finger-ends are painful. That calls the child's attention to them and once more the abused finger tips go into the mouth for comfort and consolation, and stay there until some irritated grown-up calls out, "Take your fingers out of your mouth. Your hands are a disgrace. How can you bear them in beyond me?"

The habit makes keeping the hands in good condition a most trying and difficult task. Bitten finger-ends become calloused, or rag-nails or hank-nails. The finger-ends on whose sensitivity a keen sense of touch depends, become dull and clumsy. All forms of hand work suffers. The effect of all this on the child is to make him fearful, shy and backward. He knows his drawing and writing are not as good as they ought to be, and he knows, too, that his hands show to a disadvantage beside those of the other children. It is a bad business, but what can we do about it?

First, we can know that the children who bite their nails are suffering from some uneasiness in body and mind. We must bend our efforts toward finding what causes this uneasiness, this worry and discomfort, instead of trying to discipline or bribe the child into saving his nails. A healthy child, healthy in body and in mind, rarely has this habit. Build up the health of the nail-biter and the habit will be materially reduced. At least it will be reduced to the place where the conscious mind can take some control of it.

Worry is at the root of much of the trouble. The mind begins to worry, and the discomfort this sets up all over the body of the child sends his hands to his mouth for comfort. That has been my experience with many of the children so afflicted. When their minds can be assured, the habit can be checked. Malnutrition is another cause of the trouble. The undernourished child is likely to bite his nails and chew his fingers. His lowered vitality causes bodily discomfort. That in turn creates worry, and the habit grows strong. Put such a child in the care of a specialist, who understands what is needed, and he begins to take on weight, begins to play happily, and ceases

Appleton, Twin Cities Women Win Flight Titles In N.E.W. Golf Tourney

FIVE representatives of Appleton and Neenah-Menasha golf clubs were victors in the annual tournament of the Northeastern Wisconsin Women's Golf association which closed Thursday afternoon at Butte des Morts golf club with a luncheon, business meeting and the awarding of prizes. The five women are Mrs. George Koepke, Mrs. B. T. Hoffmaster and Mrs. F. H. Dauchert, Appleton; Mrs. Harold Zaig, New London, and Miss Margaret McNaughton, Neenah.

At the luncheon yesterday afternoon the championship trophy donated by Mrs. Gertrude Bergstrom was awarded by Mrs. R. A. Peterson, president of the association, to Miss Ruth Plumb, who represented Lakeside club, Manitowish, in the tournament.

The place of next year's tournament will not be decided upon until an executive meeting in the fall at the Valley Inn, Neenah, but at yesterday's business session it was decided that the tournaments should henceforth be 4-day instead of 3-day affairs, because all 9-hole events will be eliminated in favor of 18-hole matches. The association voted in favor of match play, as against medal play.

Miss Ruth Plumb, Manitowish, won the championship with a 5 and 4 victory over Mrs. C. B. Rich of Green Bay. It was the second title for the tall Manitowish woman whose first crown was won in 1930 and who has been an annual runnerup almost every year since. After losing the first hole, winning the second and halving the third, Miss Plumb won the fifth and continued to a 3-up lead at the turn. She then won the tenth for a 4-up lead, the eleventh was halved as was the twelfth when both women figured in sensational recovery shots after poor tee shots.

On the thirteenth Mrs. Rich started to slip out of the picture when her drive was to the left of the fairway and her second shot went into the water while Miss Plumb was blazing straight down the fairway. The fourteenth saw both women on the green in three where Mrs. Rich attempted to sink a long putt and save the match but missed by only a couple inches. When the hole was halved the match ended.

Winners of the various flight championships follow:

First flight—Mrs. H. O. Eiken, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. William Buchanan, Appleton, 1 up on the nineteenth.

Second flight—Mrs. Harold Fossum, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. W. J. McCormick, Green Bay, 1 up.

Third flight—Mrs. Harold Zaig, New London, defeated Mrs. Verkerke, Oshkosh, default.

Fourth flight—Mrs. H. B. Gage, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. Art Lemke, Appleton, 3 up.

Fifth flight—Mrs. Grafton Housh, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. F. Gosin, Green Bay, 5 and 4.

Sixth flight—Mrs. G. Koepke, Appleton, defeated Mrs. H. Sanders, Fond du Lac, 3 and 2.

Seventh flight—Mrs. B. T. Hoffmaster, Appleton, defeated Mrs. J. H. Neller, Appleton, 3 and 2.

Championship—Mrs. A. D. Blue-

winshine, Green Lake, defeated Mrs. Gordon Wolfe, Chilton, 6 and 5.

First flight—Mrs. Joseph Deuster, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. E. L. Kotla, Stevens Point, 4 and 3.

Second flight—Mrs. James Heney, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. Lawrence Koepke, Appleton, 5 and 3.

Third flight—Mrs. A. D. Faas, Green Bay, defeated Mrs. Ed. Du-quain, Green Bay, 2 up.

Fourth flight—Mrs. F. H. F. Arps, Chilton, defeated Mrs. A. G. Mercier, Fond du Lac.

Fifth flight—Mrs. F. Cobb, Green Bay, defeated Miss Mary Zelle, Appleton, 3 and 1.

Sixth flight—Mrs. F. H. Dauchert, Appleton, defeated Mrs. Robert Rechner.

Seventh flight—Mrs. M. McNaughton, Neenah, defeated Mrs. Clara Edson, Chilton, default.

Filibusters in Both Houses as Session Closes

push through a few major proposals that had been caught in the jam, remained in session until a later hour yesterday afternoon without results.

As the houses reached the climax of their six months' session, which may be followed soon by a special session to be called by Governor LaFollette, this was the situation: The state fair trade practice commission and all of its industrial codes will collapse because the enabling law was not re-enacted.

Bar Bill Lost
The integrated bar bill, providing for compulsory membership of all Wisconsin attorneys in a new state bar association, is dead.

Tax bills, appropriation measures and social legislation, advocated by members of the Farm-Labor-Progressive federation, are lost.

All of the bills to revise the present old age pension law, including the Balzer bill for a consumers' tax to pay aged persons $75 a month, are in the discard.

The adjournment wiped the slate clean of all pending bills and left Governor LaFollette a clear track to include in the call for the special session only those subjects which he wants considered.

Tentatively, among these are an agricultural program, including a new mortgage moratorium law, a relief bill, revision of the state welfare laws, reorganization of state government departments and a judiciary retirement bill.

Some Bills Changed
Some of these proposals were re-modeled after they had been defeated in the regular session. Others were introduced by the administration too late for action.

Before the assembly concluded its work, it adopted a resolution by two Milwaukee members of the F. L. P. F.—Andrew J. Biemiller and Ben Rubin — asking the governor to include old age pensions in his call for the special session.

Biemiller's medical bills, which had not been killed off by direct vote, died with the adjournment. His proposal for a consumers' bureau, requiring the licensing and regulation of food and drug products, met the same fate.

The assembly agriculture committee bills to raise more funds for a state quality dairy program—the cheese licensing bills—were left dangling along with a host of other measures.

Housing Bill Scrapped
Into the adjournment scrap heap went the Rubin housing bill, the Biemiller bill for free milk to school children, all of the bills to revamp the University of Wisconsin board of regents, and the bill to license labor organizers.

The Costello bills for a state youth act and higher income taxes the sterilization will the municipal utility competition bill, the Yindra bill to forbid diversion of highway funds and the small loans repeal act died without ceremony.

Others on the unconsidered list were the bills for a state bureau of criminal apprehension, the strict 1 o'clock a. m. tavern closing law, the bills to divorce movie producers from the theater business, the bill to provide a new armory for Milwaukee and the bill to convert the Eau Claire Teachers' college into a University of Wisconsin extension center.

The bills to regulate pinball games and the Rubin bill increasing the fire fighting forces of cities by granting firemen additional time off were lost in the adjournment shuffle.

Those elephants eating peanuts there mightn't be over thirty or forty years old for all I know. Or like as not they'd be a hundred years or so.

I'll bet people living to be as old as elephants would know a whole lot! But the next best thing is to learn from the folks that have gone before you—and that's what we've tried to do in our Family—learn from Pa Wilken all he picked up in his 40 odd years of distilling, just as he learned from Grandpa Wilken what he knew about making fine whiskey. And this personal Family's Recipe of ours has got everything all of us learned concerning making whiskey mild and tasty. Yes sir—everything!

Rohan Consoles Self in That "It Was Good Fight"

Staged 3-Hour Filibuster In Attempt to Beat Price Act

Madison—Assemblyman William Rohan, Kaukauna Democrat, today consoled himself with the assurance of his colleagues that "it was a good fight while it lasted."

Rohan Tuesday evening, after a bitter, three hour filibuster, surrendered to the administration when it became evident that the milk price control act, against which he has been campaigning for the last six months, could not be defeated.

While the packed galleries roared, Rohan soared off in a lengthy oration on the incompetence of the officials of the department to which enforcement of the law will be entrusted, "the poor children who are not getting enough milk because of the high prices," and the farmers who are not getting a reasonable share of the high prices received by the distributors.

"I am a pretty good farmer," he told the amazed assemblymen, "and I can sell milk at six cents a quart and make a profit. But in Kaukauna, Little Chute and those other little towns in the Fox River Valley the housewife is paying ten cents a quart."

Assemblyman Catlin claimed that the state department of agriculture and markets has fixed an "unjustifiably high price of milk in the past," and that the high price is "an imposition on the consumer." Lower milk prices, he asserted, will result in increased consumption and prosperity for the farmer.

Arguments were of no avail, however, it became apparent after three hours of running debate. A majority of the house voted quickly to defeat two amendments submitted by Rohan, the first to exclude fourth class cities and villages from the provisions of the bill, and the second to submit the whole proposition to a referendum vote, and to require ratification by local governing bodies of all price orders made by the department of markets.

The bill, which was already passed by the senate, was approved about 90 minutes before the Griswold milk price act expired.

Solons Champion Congress-Advisers
Madison—The 1937 legislature, though shorter than its predecessor, set a new record in a field of endeavor dear to the hearts of Wisconsin lawmakers—memorializing congress.

The legislators this year sent along 38 suggestions to Washington, maintaining their rank as national champion dispenser of unsought advice to congress.

This total displaced the figure of 29 reached by the 1935 session, which also dispatched eight memorials to other agencies of the national administration.

Maximum and minimum temperatures of 80 and 66 degrees were reported in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The trio visited three furniture manufacturing firms to inspect suggested equipment for the new senior high school. "LEARN TO SWIM SCHOOL" STUDENTS PASS TESTS
A group of "Learn to Swim School" students are shown above watching fellow swimmers pass their final 60-foot swimming tests at the Y. M. C. A. pool last evening. The tests were conducted before a packed gallery and were under the supervision of Ray H. Risch, Y. M. C. A. physical education director.

The school was sponsored jointly by the Appleton Post-Crescent and the Y. M. C. A. and a total of 715 boys and girls from Appleton and vicinity received instruction. A series of six lessons were given during a 3-week period and the demonstration climaxed the annual learn-to-swim campaign, which boasted the largest enrollment in history.

Find Envelope in Hatten's Bed, But Will Isn't There
Final Tests for Swimming School Conducted Before Packed Gallery at Y Pool

A ripple of excitement was caused in New London yesterday afternoon with the discovery, under a mattress on a bed long occupied by the late William H. Hatten, of a check for $500 made payable to a niece and an official looking envelope addressed to Ripon college.

The immediate conjecture was that the envelope contained either the long-sought will disposing of the huge Hatten estate, or perhaps a substantial gift to Ripon college, on whose board of trustees Mr. Hatten served for a number of years.

But those who hoped that a will might be found or that Ripon might receive a gift were disappointed when opening the envelope revealed nothing more than a few private and worthless papers that Mr. Hatten apparently had hidden under his mattress and then forgot.

Immediately after Mr. Hatten's death a painstaking search had been made in his room in the Elwood hotel, which he had occupied for more than 40 years, for papers and documents but it did not occur to anyone to look under the mattress. Yesterday, when out for remodeling, the mattress was removed by John Caspary of the Oriental Rug studio, Appleton, and his assistant, Ellis Good, and the check and envelope were found. The documents were turned over to Elwood hotel employees who in turn gave them to an attorney for opening.

The check, made payable to Miss Helen Hatten, had been sought for some time. A few months ago she received a letter stating that a check for $500 was enclosed and that there wasn't any check, and it was assumed that Mr. Hatten had intended sending it but forgot all about it. The estate now is in the hands of the court and it is doubtful if the check can be cashed.

Senate Plans for New Construction At Veterans' Home

Would Set up Non-Profit Corporation to Authorize Work

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Legislation of special interest to the Appleton area was pushed through the state senate Thursday in an eleventh hour burst of energy. Senators busied themselves yesterday and today with the clearing of their calendars, clogged due to the inactivity of the house during the last month, so that the lower house will take the responsibility for the defeat of the bills when adjournment becomes a reality today.

Bills sent to the assembly yesterday included: $100,000 annual appropriation for day schools for defective children; a change in the jurisdiction of the Shawano county court; authority for the formation of a non-profit corporation for the construction of a hospital and heating plant at the Wisconsin Veterans home at Waupaca.

The appropriation for state aids to day schools for defective children was provided in a bill by Senator Pierce Morrissey of Rich Lake, which was delayed for various reasons since it first appeared on the floor four months ago. It will grant state aids to schools now supported by municipal funds.

The court bill was sponsored by Senator Mike Mack of Shiocton, and would remove the city of Shawano from the jurisdiction of the county court. Justice courts in the city would replace the county bench, according to Senator Mack. The third measure, introduced by the joint finance committee at the instance of Senator Herman J. Severson of Iowa, would give the board of managers of the veterans home authority to lease some of their land to a non-profit corporation which would build long needed hospital and heating plant facilities. These would in turn be leased to the state, and amortized over a long period of years. The same device is now being used for the erection of new buildings at the university of Wisconsin and at institutions under the jurisdiction of the board of control.

Anthony, route 2, Hortonville, and Marion Louise Kesselhon, Appleton; Harold Wirth, Appleton, and Rose Selig, Appleton; Robert P. Wendt, route 4, Seymour, Florence B. L. Krueger, route 1, Seymour.

Commissioner Charles Hill of the department explained, however, that the agricultural commission would not be likely to allow any reductions. Mr. Orchard would not venture to make a prediction, explaining that the decision will rest upon the evidence taken at the hearings to be held soon.

Cards Win From Cubs, 13 to 10 Take Loop Lead

Bodoh and Zernicke Hold Mound for Winners
At New London

New London — The Cards defeated the Cubs 13 to 10 in a spirited game at Washington. High school playground yesterday morning and claimed first place in the Junior Boys Soccer Recreation league. The two teams met again at the same time the Yankees beat the Sox in a hitting race, 39 to 36, but remained in last place.

The team standings and present captains are as follows:

	W.	L.
Cards, L. Stern	5	2
Cubs, C. Zernicke	4	3
Sox, R. Seering	3	4
Yankees, R. Demming	2	5

The boys are about half through the playground round robin tournament. In the top-ranked game Dick Kent started in the Cards and gave way to Glen Becker in the fifth inning when the Cubs led 8 to 5. Louis Stern did the catching. James Bodoh tossed for the Cards several innings and Calvin Zernicke finished with Ken Barlow behind the plate, until Bodoh took his place. The Yankee-Sox game saw a lot of singles and doubles go for home runs and pitches changed frequently.

The Junior Boys division is the liveliest recreation group which has been organized in the city playground program. The Junior Girls games have been handicapped by absence of players due to berry-picking and other jobs. The girls now play on Mondays and Thursdays afternoons at 2:30. Melda Runge's Whites are far ahead with four games won and one lost against Elaine Lund's Blues.

Senior Boys and Girls groups will be reorganized after July 6, it was announced yesterday by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. Girls will meet Tuesday, July 6, and the boys on Wednesday, July 7. To date Robert Brown's Cubs have beat Warren Spurr's Cards four out of six games in the Senior Boys' division and Helen Schoenrock's Swing Higs and Elizabeth Zernicke's Swing Lows are tied with two wins each.

Fourteen boys were paired to take part in a Junior Boys' croquet tournament this afternoon. Other croquet contests were arranged after July 6. The four silver cup trophy awards for the individual playground winners in each group have been ordered and will be put on display as soon as received.

Palmer Hits Two Home Runs as Knapsteins Win

New London — Phil Palmer, imported fielder for the Knapstein Brews, took the spotlight last night when he placed his second home run over the far corner of the fence to win an exhibition ball game against Weyauwega under the lights, 10 to 8. His drive came in the last half of the tenth inning with two men down and one on base.

Heavy hitting on both sides marked the first night attempt of the invading team, though the Brews hit a bit harder with Palmer and Westphal starring.

M. Munsch was excused from the Weyauwega mound with a sore arm and the first two innings were pitched by Weiss. Wahlers finished the game with a double. Pete Westphal hurled straight through for the Brews and allowed 16 hits, struck out 11 and walked none. His teammates gathered 13 hits from

Edisons Defeat Lions Club Team

10 for Losers in

New London — A team of Edison employees defeated the Lions Club team, 17 to 10, in a preliminary game in the Old Men's softball league at the Washington High school diamond last evening. Regular play will begin next Thursday evening when the Lutheran Men's club is expected to have a team on the field with another Edison team.

R. M. Shortell, city recreation director is seeking enough players for a snappy 6-team league. All interested men who report at the field at 8:30 Thursday evening will be placed on some team. Young men who do not play in the City Industrial league are desirable in this league.

The men had a lot of fun in the care-free game last night. G. A. Wells pitched for the Lions with Earl "Mac" Donner catching. Jim Lockyear tossed for the Edisons and Marks received.

Making up the Lions team were H. H. Helms, R. V. Pahl, M. J. Heinz, George Humble, Don Hoier, Huntley, Dick Jagoech, Leo Meschke, G. A. Wells and E. M. Donner. For the Edisons were Earl Frappay, Walter Stewart, Art Bunke, Ben Schmidt, E. L. McAndrews, Houk, Earl, Wenberg, Rogers, Lockyear and Marks.

MOTORIST FINED

New London — John Gilsdorf, Appleton, was fined $5 and cost in police court yesterday morning for operating a car without the proper license. He pleaded guilty to using old license plates when arraigned before Justice F. A. Archibald.

Men Bathers Will be Permitted to Use Pool Without Tops on Swim Suits

New London — Men bathers will be permitted to use the Hattom Memorial park swimming pool without tops to their swimming trunks in the future, it was announced yesterday by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. The matter will be left entirely to the personal preference of the bathers, he said in announcing the change in initial policies to conform to the wishes of the bathing public.

All restrictions on bathing schedules will be lifted Monday, July 5, for that day only, to care for the large crowds which are expected during the Fourth of July celebration. Everyone over seven years of age will be allowed in the pool at any time Monday. Children under seven will be confined to the wading pool unless they are accompanied by parents or guardians.

Swimming is always open to everyone. All above senior high school age may swim every afternoon and all above 15 years of age may swim every evening.

A total of 2,998 swimmers used the new pool during the first period of operation from June 13 to June 30, according to the first monthly report. Of these 927 were boy scouts at the campore here.

the visiting pitchers, 15 taking the count of three. Munsch played left field and led the Weyauwega batters with a home run and two singles.

Weiss proved a poor bet when the New London lads collected three hits in the first inning, took advantage of two walks and scored two runs. In the second inning Palmer drove in two single-hitters with his first homer over the fence to leave the tally at 8-0. Though Weiss fanned five, Wahlers took his place and held the Brews to nothing the next three innings.

Weyauwega gained three runs in the fourth and one in the fifth to approach 5 to 4. The Brews spurred ahead again in the sixth when Westphal cracked a three-bagger with two men on and two down.

The Wega team tied things up with two runs in each the seventh and eighth while neither scored in the ninth and the New London fielders stopped them in the tenth. Palmer's homer closed the ordeal.

It's a Double
What turned out to be only a double and no score for the Brews was a drive by Pete Westphal, the first up in the ninth inning, that brought the crowd to its feet.

Straight out over left center field, the ball was headed way over the far side of the fence when it hit the light pole up near the wires. Pete accomplished the feat successfully in a former season and is reported the only batter ever to do it. Other doubles were counted by Demming for New London and Wall and Wohl for Weyauwega.

Marion will invade the New London diamond Sunday night for a regular Wolf Valley league game.

Make Progress With Brick Work

Finish Auditorium, Start Laying Third Story of Academic Section

Menasha—Brick work on the auditorium at the new $600,000 Menasha High school now under construction has been completed and 16 bricklayers are now at work placing exterior brick on the third story of the academic building.

Another group of workmen this week started laying the slate roof on the vocational wing. This will be finished by the end of next week. L. G. Reis, architect for the Foeller, Schober, and Berners company of Green Bay, said yesterday.

The construction crew has also started setting up partitions in the vocational school. About 125 men in all are working on the project under the direction of the contractors, Maurice Schumacher of Minneapolis.

A portion of the concrete foundation for the new gymnasium was poured last week, but Reis pointed out that most of the work is being centered on the vocational and academic buildings so that they will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

The four divisions of the high school, academic building, auditorium, vocational wing, and gymnasium will be connected by corridors.

Neenah Merchants Will be Hosts to Appleton Sunday

Northern Valley League Teams Will Tangle at Washington Park

Neenah—After failing to knot first place in the Northern Valley league last Sunday at Oshkosh, the Neenah Merchants will make another bid for a win when they meet Giesens Taverns of Appleton at Washington park Sunday afternoon.

The Merchants have been practicing every night this week in an effort to strengthen the weak spots. Jimmy Christofferson, who caught his first full game for the Neenah team Sunday, has been showing up well in practice and will work behind the plate against Appleton.

Although the visitors have only won two games this season against six losses, they will still be tough nut to crack and the local boys are not going into the battle with the idea that the match is a setup. Appleton lost to Grand Chute last week, 6 and 5, and now hold down fifth place in the league standing.

In 2nd Place
Neenah is still in second place with six wins and three losses. Menasha is right behind with four wins and four losses while Green Bay leads on the fourth rung of the league ladder.

Orv Schultz, who bends balls for the Merchants, will be on the mound with Bob Jerome, team manager, in reserve in case Schultz has a bad day.

The remainder of the lineup includes: K. Handter, shortstop; E. Gatzke, second base; R. Babcock, right field; G. Haufe, center field; H. Cheslock, left field; L. Gammy, third base; J. Christofferson, catcher; A. Bradish, first base. Jerome may work at first base if he is not needed on the mound.

Tax Refund Bill, Passed by Houses, Goes to Governor

Would Return $60,000 in Assessments to Oshkosh Residents

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—A legislature bill, which has passed both the assembly and the state senate, which means a refund to Oshkosh taxpayers of about $60,000 from the Oshkosh Water department, is waiting for the signature of Governor Philip F. La Follette, it was learned today.

The bill was offered in the Assembly by Leo T. Niemuth, assemblyman from Oshkosh, and was passed after Niemuth had obtained an opinion from the attorney general stating that such a law was necessary before refunds could be made.

The bill states: "Where in any municipality water mains have been installed or extended and the cost thereof has been in some instances assessed against the abutting owners and in other instances against the municipality or the utility, then, notwithstanding the provisions of section 62.19 it may be provided by the governing body of such municipality that all persons who paid any such assessment against any lot or parcel of land may be reimbursed the amount of such assessment regardless of when such assessment was made or paid. Such reimbursement may be made from such funds of the municipality as the governing body may determine."

Niemuth stated before leaving for Madison that no assessments have ever been made in Oshkosh until 1928. Then, for some reason, assessments were made and collected from taxpayers, because of a heavy residential program.

In 1933, because of protest of Oshkosh taxpayers, the assessments were discontinued, and all attempts since then to secure a refund have proved fruitless. It was not until this action by Assemblyman Niemuth that hope for the refund has been brightened.

Several trips were made to Madison by Oshkosh officials in interest of the bill, Niemuth said, but very little co-operation was received from the senator from this district, Pierce Morrisey, it was stated.

Neenah—The Menasha Lions knocked the ball all over the far reaches of the greens last night and even put it out of sight over some box cars standing nearby as they gave the Oshkosh club a sound thumping, 28-10, in the long-awaited kittenball fracas.

Oshkosh made five of their runs in the seventh and last inning, when their brave attempts at a rally brought them their first consistent bunch of hits. But a riot, not a rally, was the only kind of a demonstration that could have made them dangerous at that point and it was pretty much Menasha all evening.

Raddford started pitching for Oshkosh and in the last half of the

Let's just play six innings," Hedke said after three Menasha men had finally been put out and the slaughter momentarily halted. "Our expense money just calls for that."

Just about everyone on the Menasha team made home runs. They were helped to no end by the thick hay in the outfield that hid the ball from Oshkosh outfielders and wound around their legs when they tried to run. Sometimes the outfielders themselves were almost lost.

A sensational attempt at a base stealing by Army Armstrong in the fifth brought the few spectators who were sitting down to their feet. He galloped back and forth between third base and home plate before finally getting pinched in and lining several rods off the base line.

Lineups for the Menasha team were as follows: 1b. Fahrbach; 2b. Mayer; 3b. Van Avery; ss. Armstrong; ds. Zeininger; cf. Landwig; lf. Verbrick; rf. Hoffman; p. Berro; c. Crowley.

For Oshkosh, the following men played: 1b. La Budde; 2b. Bell; 3b. Scott; ss. Peterson; ds. Fritz; cf. and p. Hedke; lf. Faust; rf. Kimball; p. Raddford; c. McNichol.

Push Plans for New Gymnasium At Cost of $200,000

Propose to Erect Building On South Side of Oshkosh Under WPA

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—Though it appears a high school on the south side will be delayed, plans were being pushed today to secure a large gymnasium-auditorium to be located on the south side, and to seat between 3,000 and 4,000, it was learned late Thursday.

Following a conference Thursday between Mayor C. A. Wiechering, Henry Auler, local architect, and several school board members, it was learned that Auler was asked to begin plans and co-operate with Fred Wolverton, city engineer, for about $200,000.

Present plans are to build the gymnasium under a Works Progress Administration program, it was stated.

Though in the past, Oshkosh like other cities has been forced to furnish all material for WPA projects, while the federal government furnished all labor costs, a new set-up may permit Oshkosh to be aided on the material costs, it was stated.

Many things about the construction of gymnasiums were learned from the present recreational building, officials said. While the playing floor has plenty of room, not enough space has been portioned off for spectators.

This will be taken care of if the new gymnasium-auditorium is built. With a seating capacity of between 3,000 and 4,000, it will be suitable for conventions, basketball games, auto shows; in fact for city-wide gatherings of all kinds.

While many south side residents felt the council was "kissing them a bone" in the form of an auditorium, when the real need is for a high school, it was felt that in the very near future this issue will be brought up again.

WPA Pays $560,000 in Wages in Last Year

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—The extent to which the city of Oshkosh has benefited from the Works Progress Administration in the past few years was revealed this week by Mayor C. A. Wiechering, when he suggested building a south side gymnasium by WPA labor.

In the last year Oshkosh has received about $560,000 in wages for WPA labor and has only had to spend about $77,000 as the city's share for material.

Since WPA has listed programs in Oshkosh, this same percentage of more than 80 per cent for each 20 per cent put up by Oshkosh has been maintained, he said.

He estimated that Oshkosh has received about $2,500,000 federal funds under the many WPA projects, which have kept many Oshkosh citizens employed.

Mayor Wiechering stated he had no idea just what Oshkosh would do if WPA was suddenly shut down, as the city depends heavily on this income from the government.

New President Outlines Rotary Program for Year

Neenah—Increased membership, increased fellowship among members and increased knowledge about Rotary, its principles and fundamental objectives, were named as program factors he hoped to emphasize during the coming year by Samuel N. Pickard after he had been installed as president in the Valley Inn at the Thursday noon meeting. Mr. Pickard stated however that the four fields of activity in Rotary, club service, vocational service, community service and international service, would also be participated in by the local club.

Mr. Pickard announced that committee chairmen would be named at the next meeting of the club. Charles Vette to be re-chosen chairman of the membership committee.

Earl Nicholson, retiring president, was presented with a past president's pin by William Bellack, newly-elected vice-president, who also paid verbal tribute to the fine work Mr. Nicholson had done during his term as club president.

Present Songs
The Men's octet of North Central college, Naperville, Ill., presented several selections among them, "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn, "The Love Life", "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes", "Music When Soft Voices Die" by Matthews and "Youth" by Ganes. The young men presented a concert at the First Evangelical church Wednesday evening.

Mr. Nicholson introduced the new president, Mr. Pickard, by giving a biographical sketch of him that amused the Rotarians.

Other officers installed at the meeting yesterday were Emmer Lampert, secretary; Henry Behnke, treasurer and Carl Gerhardt, sergeant-at-arms.

Take Testimony In Case Against Oshkosh Dealer

Junkman Is Charged With Accepting Stolen Goods

Oshkosh—Damaging testimony was given this morning by Harry E. Macklin, New London chief of police, and Gerald Besau, New London, in municipal court before Judge Henry P. Hughes, in the case of state versus William Haase, Oshkosh junk dealer, charged with receiving stolen goods.

Besau, who was convicted at New London was sentenced May 3 to Waupaca county jail for theft of metal, testified under questioning by R. C. Laus, attorney for the defendant, that Haase had asked him to bring the "hot" metal to his home.

Under questioning by Lewis C. Magnusen, district attorney, Besau admitted a previous conviction for petty larceny and told the court he had broken up the metal to prevent identification.

Besau also told the court he had stolen the metal with intent of taking it to Oshkosh to sell, and made the journey accompanied by three other New London youths. It was expected the case would be given to the jury late today.

Fraser assisting hostess. Plans for a picnic in August were discussed by the members.

Mrs. J. Kuehler and Mrs. W. G. Wittenborn were hostesses at the picnic of the Ladies Prayer Band held Thursday afternoon in Doty park. About 19 members attended.

County League Closes First Round of Play Sunday

Doubles Play Features Fox Valley Tennis Tournament

Shiocton, Dale Expected to Tie
For Championship*Loop Leaders and All-Stars Will Clash Monday
At Hortonville

OUTAGAMIE CO. LEAGUE
	W.	L.	Pct.
Dale	6	3	.667
Shiocton	6	3	.667
Black Creek	5	4	.555
Greenville Grange	4	5	.444
Greenville Merchants	4	5	.444
Hortonville	2	7	.222

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Shiocton at Hortonville.
Merchants at Black Creek.
Grangers at Dale.MONDAY'S GAME
The league leader or leaders versus the league All-Stars at Hortonville.

Whether the first round of play in the Outagamie County league is to end in a tie between Dale and Shiocton will feature Sunday's program of games as the circuit completes the first round schedule.

Shiocton, which pushed Black Creek out of the picture last week, will invade Hortonville fairly confident that it will emerge a winner. The Shiocton club has been doing well in recent weeks with Smokey Lathrop and Miller doing the hurling and as Hortonville is at the bottom of the standings and still smarting from a one-sided defeat last week, a win is almost certain. However, the invaders would do well to remember Hortonville's upset of the dope late in the first round a year ago.

Dale at Home
Dale will play at home with the Greenville Grangers and at the rate it has been going recently should have no trouble. Lefty Kaufman probably will have the situation in hand all the way. The Grangers will depend on Kuzenski with Fahrenkrug ready in case his services are needed.

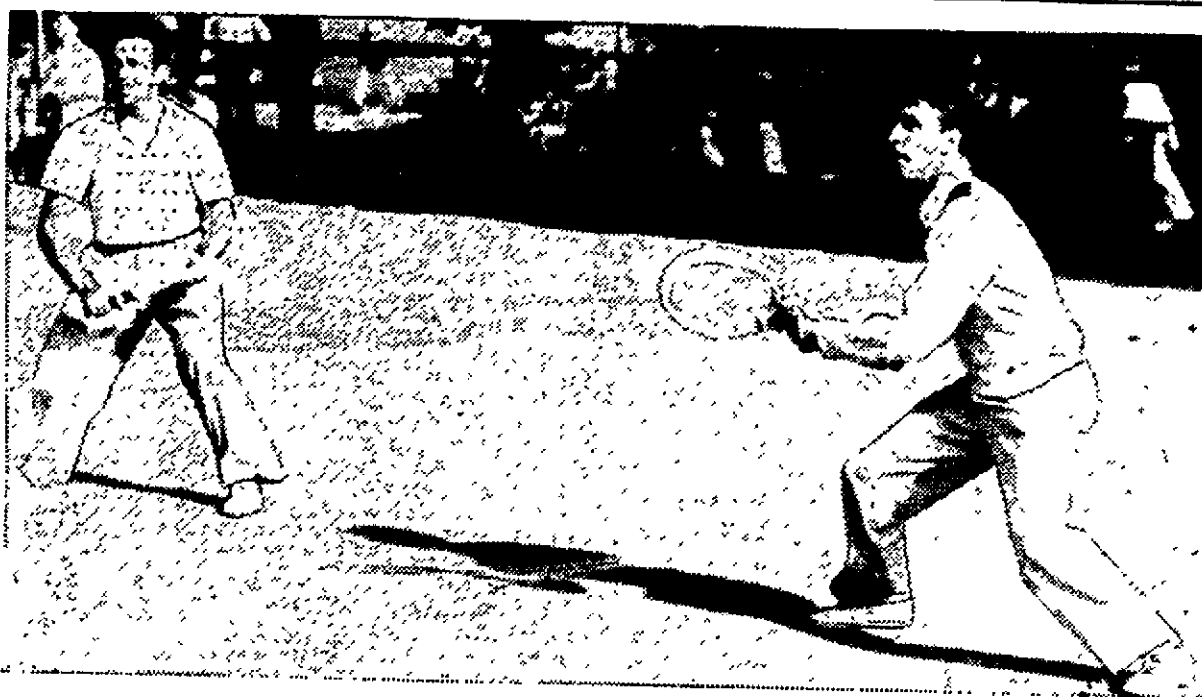

In the other game Sunday Greenville Merchants will go back to Black Creek. The game will feature the Creelers trying to hang onto third place in the standings with the Merchants attempting to earn a tie for third. John Miller probably will toss for the Creelers and Dats Crowe or any one of the several pitchers. He knows will work for the Merchants.

Monday afternoon followers of the circuit will invade Hortonville for a game featuring an all-star team and the league leader or leaders, depending on the results of first round play Sunday. The game will be a feature of the July 5 celebration at the village. Proceeds will go to a fund which the league hopes will finance a baseball dinner at the end of the season.

Manager Hilbert Weller, of the All-Stars, and also league president, and "Dats" Crowe, his assistant and chief coach, have drawn a tentative starting lineup for the big game. They have selected Fred Buchanan, Hortonville, as the starting hurler with John Miller, Black Creek, and Harry Fahrenkrug, Grangers, as the other two pitchers.

All-Star Infield
Third base will be held down by Roy Haase of the Grangers; William Le Capitaine, Black Creek, will be at first base; Joe Sambs, Hortonville, will be the starting catcher with Charles Le Capitaine, Black Creek, and Cy Burton, Merchants, helping. Roman Dietz, Merchants, will start in right field with Ken Falk, Grangers, left field, Carl Sambs, Hortonville, at second base, Earl Rohloff, Black Creek, left field, and Harold Reimer, Merchants, shortstop. Others who probably will see action are Fred Schultz, Grangers, left field, Leland Hoier, Hortonville, outfield, and Harvey Thiel, Hortonville, short or second.

The starting lineup for the leaders will be determined after Sunday's games are completed.

A TENSE MOMENT IN VALLEY DOUBLES PLAY

It was a tense moment for Elwood Cooke, left, and Martin Buxby, right, when the camera snapped on this scene in doubles play at the annual Fox Valley Tennis tournament being held at Doty courts, Menasha. Cooke and Buxby played Richardson and Levens yesterday afternoon and the competition was keen. However, the former two copped the match with little trouble. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Looks Like Max Has Sulked Himself Out of Title Bout

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK (AP)—When and if Mike Jacobs puts on that right card featuring four world's champions, some smart guy ought to rent a lot across the street from the Yankee Stadium and put on a show to take care of the overflow. . . . Those Dodgers have managed to count once in the last 36 innings. . . . Nice going, boys. . . . Looks like Herr Max Schmeling has done a swell job of sulking himself out of a shot at the heavyweight title. . . . Dick Bartell hit his last two homers on the last day of May and the last day of June.

You've heard those squawks about this player and that being left off the all-star teams. . . . Now you know why the poor guys who manage those outfits think theirs is a hopeless

Braxton Whips Milwaukee, 2-0

Losers Get Four Hits; Macon, Columbus, Wins
12th Game

Chicago (AP)—Max Macon of Columbus, one of the big reasons why the Red Birds are making their American association rivals sit up and take notice, had as many pitching victories to his credit for the current season today as he had during the 1936 campaign.

Macon won his twelfth game last night, and it was not only his best performance of the year but one of the most masterful jobs of association hurling in several seasons. He held the St. Paul Saints to one hit, enabling the Red Birds to win 2 and 1 and sweep the four-game series. The victory tightened Columbus' hold on third place.

Vernon Washington, St. Paul outfielder, spoiled Macon's bid for the hall of fame, blasting a two-bagger in the seventh that scored Warner, who had walked.

Another brilliant pitching performance was turned in by Garland Braxton of Indianapolis, who let Milwaukee down with four hits as the Indians blanked the Brewers 2 to 0. The Tribe scored both its runs in the fourth inning, breaking up a hurling duel between Braxton and Forrest Presnell of Milwaukee.

Minneapolis took over the circuit leadership by downing Toledo 9 to 8 in a wild slugfest match which went 12 innings.

Kansas City slugged a 12 to 2 defeat on Louisville, with the losers using five hurlers against a 16-hit Kansas City offense.

Eastern Wis. Circuit
To Start Second Round
Hilbert—Eastern Wisconsin league baseball teams will start the second round of play this weekend with games on Sunday and Monday.

Mt. Calvary will invade Hilbert for the Sunday game and on Monday Kiel will show on the Hilbert diamond which was used for the first time last week.

Other games Sunday will have Valders at Markbygarden, Chilton at Kiel and Stockbridge at New Holstein. On July 5 the schedule shows Marytown at Cleveland, New Holstein at Chilton and Stockbridge at Mt. Calvary.

All-Stars Set for Clash on Holidays

American Loop Team Won't Be at Full Strength
For Fraternal Squad

Although the squad will be weakened because some of the best talent will be out of the city during the holiday weekend, the American Softball league All-Stars are confident of victory in their series Sunday and Monday mornings at the Roosevelt school field. Manager Kranzsch expected to have a strong squad representing the league despite the fact that a large number of players will not be available. The games will start at 10 o'clock both mornings.

George Faulk, who hurled for Interlake Mill in the American league, and who now pitches for a team in the Fraternal loop, will be welcomed as he starts on the mound for the Fraternal All-Stars. He probably will be opposed by Eddie Mitchell or Ole Lorenz. Bob Eggert and Chips Mortell won't be in the lineup and it is possible that Mitchell may be left alone with the hurling as Lorenz has made tentative plans to be out of the city.

Some of the others who will show with the American league team are De Young, Kelly, Kranzsch, Lloyd Schroeder, Wally Refke and Ray Crane.

Freedom Wins Little Four Softball Title

Freedom won the first round championship in the Little Four Softball league last Sunday when it defeated Modern Shoes 8 to 7. F. Murphy, N. Conrad and Schroeder formed the winning battery. Natrop hurled for the losers. V. Garvey of Freedom hit two homers.

In the other games Rose Hill defeated County Trunk 7 to 6, as a County Trunk rally in the last frame was short.

No games are scheduled this weekend.

The league standings:

County Trunk	3	3	.500

Buxby and Cooke Beat Levens and Richardson Easily

Bobby Riggs and Hendrix Eliminate Curtis and Buchanan

Neenah — Robert L. Riggs, Los Angeles, and Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., favorites in the doubles, together with Martin Buxby, Miami, and Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore., advanced to the semi-finals doubles in the fourteenth annual Fox Valley Tennis tournament Thursday at the Doty Tennis club.

Singles quarter-finals and doubles semi-finals are being played at the Doty courts today. Singles competition includes matches between Riggs and Don Levens, Milwaukee; Buxby and Morey Lewis, Jack Lemberg, Neenah, 6-3 and 6-2, Riggs and Hendrix had little trouble in reaching the quarters. In advancing to the semi-finals, the top ranking pair eliminated Bobby Curtis, Houston, Tex., and Landon Buchanan, Roanoke, Va., 6-3 and 6-0. The top seeded stars found their frequent excursions to the net profitable and won many points with brilliant overhead placements.

Buxby and Cooke defeated Don Levens, Milwaukee and Steve Richardson, Oshkosh, 6-3 and 6-2, to move into the semi-final round. Seeded No. 2 in the doubles, Buxby and Cooke had more trouble than the score indicates and were pushed to win by Levens base line lobs and half volleys at the net.

Second Round Results
Following are the results of the second round of play: Riggs and Hendrix defeated Lemberg and Albrecht, Houston, Tex., 6-3, 6-1; Curtis, Roanoke, Va., and Buchanan, Roanoke, Va., defeated Pipkorn and Ziebell, Oshkosh, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2; Kovacs, Oakland, Calif., and Lucia, Houston, Tex., defeated O'Neill, Milwaukee, and Scherbatoff, New York, 6-2, 6-2; Hall and Knemeyer, University of Southern California, 6-2, 6-3; Lewis, Gambier, Ohio, and Ruchl, Milwaukee, won on default from Floyd and Yaley, Menasha; Quinn and Galland, Chicago, defeated Ryan and Kelly, Neenah, 6-0, 6-1; Levens, Milwaukee, and Richardson, Oshkosh, defeated Fletcher and Saukup, St. Paul, 6-2, 6-0; Buxby and Cooke, defeated Carson and Rhoades, St. Paul, 6-2, 6-0.

Results of first round doubles follow: Lemberg and Albrecht, Neenah, defeated Dempsey and Oaks, Oshkosh, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Pipkorn and Ziebell, Oshkosh, won on default from Scherbatoff and Part-Snow, New York; Anger and Anger, Oshkosh, defeated Shepard and Shepard, Neenah, 6-2 and 6-1; Ryan and Kelly, Neenah, defeated Scarl and Ward, Neenah, 6-4, 5-7 and 6-1; Fletcher and Soukup, St. Paul, defeated Kelly and Canavan, Neenah, 6-2 and 6-0; Carson and Rhoades, St. Paul, defeated Kimbrey and Pipkorn, Oshkosh, 7-5 and 6-1. Other players drew first round byes.

Wolf River Valley Teams Will Close First Round Of Play Sunday, Monday

MANAWA — With six of the eight teams in the Wolf Valley league having a mathematical chance to win the first half championship, the two games to be played by each club on Sunday and Monday, July 4 and 5, will provide a fitting climax to a season that has already seen a number of hard-fought and thrilling battles.

Every team but Marion and Shawano has a chance to cop the buntings and with Clintonville, Weyauwega, New London, Manawa, Waupaca, and Neopit all bunched within a game and a half of each other, forthcoming games are certain to develop unusual rivalry.

Clintonville and Manawa each have two games scheduled for July 4. The FWD team plays at home against Waupaca in the afternoon and against Manawa in a night game. The Wolves will play Weyauwega at Manawa in the afternoon. Other games find New London at Marion and Shawano at Neopit.

On Monday, July 5, games scheduled include Neopit at Weyauwega, Marion at Waupaca, and New London at Shawano. One postponed game, that between New London and Clintonville, will be played some night next week at Clintonville, and may ultimately decide the winner of the first half which ends July 5.

An unexpected victory by Marion over Clintonville, Sunday, in which the Trunkers were subdued 2 to 1 by Sid Felts' fine pitching, together with Weyauwega's 8 to 5 win over New London, threw the league race into a wide open affair. Manawa and Waupaca both kept in the running, the former defeating Shawano 8 to 1, while Waupaca won a tight contest from Neopit 4 to 3.

League standings:

APPLETON Merchants walloped the Harriman Printers 9 to 1 in an American City league game last night at the Pierce park diamond. Captain was the Merchants batting ace, clouting three hits in four trips, while Johnny Bauers had a perfect record at the plate, hitting safely twice and scoring twice in two trips.

Doerfler took the mound with two out in the third inning and held the Merchants to three runs in the last three frames. Ehlike socked three hits in three trips. Cy Burton hit the only home run in the game.

The Merchants scored two runs in the first inning, four in the third and one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh frames. Harriman's only run came in the first inning.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Seymour—Seymour baseball team will close the first round of play in the Land o' Lakes league here Sunday afternoon when the Rowemen play Krakow at the fair grounds. The locals have to win to remain tied for first place in standings. Al Bauer will be sent to the hill and all other members of the squad will be at their regular positions so that the unexpected doesn't happen and Seymour take a trimming.

But while the Seymour folks will be watching their own game they'll be keeping an ear to the ground for reports from Bonduel where the big game of the week will be staged with Cecil the opponent. One of the clubs will be ousted from the triple tie for first and of course Seymour would like to know who it probably will have to meet for the round championship.

In the other game Oconto Falls and Gillett will tangle at Gillett.

Louisiana Golfers In College Finals

Oakmont, Pa. (AP)—Two tall Louisiana teammates battled today in the semi-finals for the privilege of deciding between them the national intercollegiate golf championship.

Paul Leslie, dark and reserved, encountered the surprising Bill Barclay of Michigan in the first 36-hole match and slender Freddie Marks engaged a fellow southerner, Vincent D'Antoni of Tulane.

Leslie won the easiest victory of the quarter-finals yesterday with a 9 and 8 count against John Hobart of Illinois but faced a difficult foe today in Barclay.

The Wolverine created a small sensation by beating Willie Turnesa the first day of match play and yesterday eliminated Jim Marks, home town favorite. Marks, the tournament's driving champion, was beaten off the tee regularly by the Michigan three-sport star.

Field of 300 at National A. A. U. Track, Field Meet

Juniors Compete Tonight With Seniors Showing Tomorrow

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
MILWAUKEE — (P) — Youngsters still to be made will jump and throw for junior titles tonight in Marquette Stadium where tomorrow their already famous elders battle for senior championships in the amateur athletic union's 50th track and field meet.

Except for as long as it takes to find a successor to Indiana's Don Lash as 10,000 meter champion this afternoon, the juniors, most of them unknown outside their own neighborhoods, will have the whole day and night to themselves. The championship finals for the young fellows will be run off tonight under floodlights.

Foremost among the juniors is Bob Peeples, a brawny youth just out of Oklahoma City's Classen High school, who has thrown the javelin far enough to indicate he may whip his elders tomorrow in the senior games. Peeples has thrown the javelin 225 feet 5 inches in prep school competition, a mark less than four feet short of the American record of 229 feet 2 inches owned by Alton Terry of Texas.

Whatever the juniors accomplish, the senior championships figure to produce a brilliant, thrilling show.

The field of 300 athletes includes 150 seniors, 100 juniors, 25 women, and 25 world record-holders, giving the senior division all the elements necessary for record performances, provided the weather behaves.

Once more, the big thriller promises to come out of the 1,500 meters run in which Glenn Cunningham, master of the milers, and his sensational challenger, Archie San Román, along with such threats as Gene Venzke and Chuck Fenske, will clash. The only top-flight mile runner missing from the field is Indiana's Don Lash, who had a date with an appendectomy today at Auburn, Ind.

Cunningham also was fooling with the idea of getting into the 800 meters race, an event already loaded with possibilities. Chuck Beeson of Ohio State, will defend his title against Pittsburgh's Olympic champion, John Woodruff; Rens Bush of Southern California, and Abe Rosenkrantz, among others, and with Cunningham in the race, a world record to replace Ben Eastman's 1:49.8, might turn up.

The official holder of the pole vault record at 14 feet, 6 inches, George Varoff, whose victory last year came without advance notice, will defend his laurels against Southern California's scrawny pair, Earl Meadows and Bill Sefton, both of whom have done 14-11. Cornelius Johnson, tall Negro high jumper from Compton, Calif., junior college, world record holder and Olympic champion, runs into an all-star field, several members of which have matched his best performance and have whipped him at one time or another.

Eulace Peacock, Temple's other Negro ace, leads powerful fields after the 100 meters and broad jump titles vacated when Ohio State's Jesse Owens turned professional. The sprinters include Marty Glickman of Syracuse, Sam Stoller of Michigan, Bob Grieve of Illinois, Perrin Walker and Robert Rodenkirchen of the New York A. C.'s powerful team, and Bob Packard of Georgia.

Trials in the junior events were slated for this afternoon. The 10,000 meters championship for juniors and seniors also was on the afternoon program, both titles to be decided in one race.

COATED Paper softball team defeated the Fox River Paper mill squad 8 to 4 last night in an American league game, jumbling the standings so three teams are tied for third place. Smokey Williams, on the mound for the winners, fanned seven men and walked five and was in trouble in only three innings.

Williams hurled and batted the Coated Paper club to victory after Packey Crowe tapped a home run with a man on base to give Coated a lead in the first inning. Smokey came up in the second with the bases loaded and one man out and socked out a long drive that accounted for three runs. He went to second on the play at the plate and then scored the fourth tally.

Bob Van Wyk had a bad start when Coated got to him for six runs in the first two innings, but came back to keep the scoring down. Errors in the seventh and eighth frames gave Coated additional runs.

Manager Al Kranzusch has ordered all the American league All-Stars to report at Roosevelt field at 5:15 this evening for a practice session.

Don Budge Wins All-England Meet

Defeats Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany For Singles' Title

Wimbledon, Eng. — (P) — Don Budge, lanky red-head from Oakland, Calif., today won the All-England singles tennis championship, blasting Germany's Baron Gottfried Von Cramm off the courts in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

The American Davis Cup star's decisive triumph clinched a brilliant performance by Budge throughout the famed Wimbledon tournament. Enroute to the title relinquished by Fred Perry, now a professional, Budge dropped only one set and that to his Davis Cup teammate, Frankie Parker of Milwaukee.

For Von Cramm it was his second successive trouncing in Wimbledon's final. He lost to Perry last year, 6-1, 6-4, 6-0.

Budge required only an hour and five minutes to annex the title, immediately after the match, both went to the royal box to be introduced to Queen Mary.

"I was lucky to play probably the finest tennis of my life just when I wanted to," Budge said. "I couldn't believe it when I reached that match point."

"Von Cramm is a great player and a great gentleman."

"No, I am not going to turn professional."

St. Louis Cards' Hurling Folds Up, Going Gets Tough

Cubs, Giants 3 1-2 and 3 Games Ahead of Gas House Gang

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE gas house gangsters are still rough, tough and nasty, but they're learning fast and from experts that they'll need lots more than an ability to dish it out in order to string along in the current National League dog-fight.

It was all very well for the Cardinals, they were monopolizing the chip-on-shoulder, knut-drag-out business, but since the Giants and Cubs both have picked up sizeable portions of the same stuff, the St. Louis crew, does not look so hot.

In fact, in their last two series, against the Giants and Cubs, they haven't even been luke warm. As a result, today they're creaking along in a third-place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates, while the Cubs and Giants are racing 3 1-2 and three games, respectively, in front of them.

The Giants date their sudden slugging tactics from the now historic "Battle of St. Louis." The Cubs began their transition from the "brotherly love" idea when Manager Jolly Cholly Grimm laid down the law and made any Cub kidding a first degree offense for this season.

Tangling with these two troops in their last six starts, the Cards have dropped five in a row—two to the Giants and three straight to the Cubs.

Their "big three" pitching troop of Dean, Bob Weiland and Lon Warneke folded up like a collapsible canoe in that six-game stretch. Although they've kept on hitting, their defenses have been as full of holes as a bag of doughnuts.

Yesterday, Frankie Frisch sent Winford to the wars and the Cubs pinned his ears back 6-3, after Frisch and shortstop Lippy Leo Duane were banned for rowing with the umpire, Ripper Collins' homer with two aboard was the payoff wallop.

The Cubs had to win to stay out in front, for the Giants, as anxious as a mother hen in their drive to hit the top by the July 4 deadline, knocked over the Phillies 8-6 on Wally Berger's pinch-homer in the eighth, with two on base and two away in the ninth, to remain a half-game off the pace.

Although they won a 12-7 thrashing from the Athletics, the Yankees were a sorry set. Twinkletons, Selkirk, their slugging outfielder, fell in making a circus catch and suffered an injury to his right shoulder that will keep him on the shelf several days.

Brooklyn's Dodgers finally ended their scoreless streak at 35 consecutive innings, but one run was the total of their production, and the Boston Bees turned in a 4-1 victory behind Johnny Lanning's three-hit fling, for their sixth win in a row.

The White Sox climbed all over Detroit pitching and came through with a 15-8 victory. The Senators made it two in a row over the Boston Red Sox with a 3-2 decision behind Jimmy Deshong's nine-hitter.

The Pirates and Reds were not scheduled. Wet grounds kept the Browns and Indians out of action.

Flag Tournaments Being Planned at Golf Clubs

IN KEEPING with the spirit of the weekend and American independence, Butte des Morts and Riverview golf clubs will have flag tournaments as features of weekend and Monday play.

At Butte des Morts Everett Leonard has scheduled a blind bogey for Saturday and Sunday. Monday morning he has planned a flag tournament for men and in the afternoon a flag tournament for man and wife.

At Riverview Jake Mathews is calling his tournament the War of the Revolution tournament and is holding it over the three days. The players will be divided into the British and the Americans and the tournament in addition to the winner will carry a flag in keeping with his squad.

The regular club handicap will be added to par for the course and will determine the number of strokes a player can use. At the spot where his final allotted shot comes to rest each player will plant his flag on which he has written his name and the number of strokes. The player who advances the farthest is the winner of the tournament. In addition the winner will score 20 points for his "army." The runner-up will score 18 points for his "army" down to the twentieth man. The points will be totaled to determine which side won the war.

Doyle Says He'll Fight Joe Louis

Claims Bout Will Be Held in London Late This Summer

Los Angeles — (P) — Jack Doyle, who doesn't like to be called the Irish thrush any more, reached for a high note today when he announced in dulcet tones:

"In going to fight Joe Louis in London the last week of August or the first in September. You can bet on it."

Doyle climbed out of a transcontinental plane early this morning, posed for a cameraman with a straight-stemmed pipe in his hand and a romantic gaze in his eyes and said he knew of no confusion in the world's heavyweight boxing scene.

"It's all set, I tell you. I shall fight Joe Louis."

Prodded for details, he said Mike Jacobs of New York would promote the affair.

A year ago Doyle couldn't get a fight in Los Angeles. The promoter said he wouldn't draw a draft of air, and besides, he might get hurt.

Then Doyle went to England and thrashed King Levinsky of Chicago — who, incidentally, couldn't get another fight here, either. The Levinsky triumph apparently "made" Doyle an attraction here.

MAX SULKES
New York — (P) — In the absence of any reply from Max Schmeling, Mike Jacobs, New York boxing promoter, said yesterday he was going ahead with plans to match Joe Louis with Tommy Farr of London for the world's heavyweight title here in September.

"I have talked with Farr and his manager and they have accepted terms" Jacobs said. "I cabled Schmeling yesterday giving him 24 hours to come to a decision. He will not reply to my cables, so I am going ahead with Farr."

In London, Ted Broadbent, Farr's manager, said he had agreed to send the Welshman here to fight Louis early in September and that plans for a Farr-Schmeling bout in London were "definitely off."

GRAPHIC GOLF

BY BEST BALL

LENGTHEN ARC FOR LONGER BALL
By developing a wide arc in the golf stroke, one increases his chances for smoother action and greater clubhead speed at impact. Various tests have shown that the speed at impact has a direct bearing on the distance the ball travels. In many cases, this speed is generated so quickly by an abbreviated stroke, that the impact is not precise enough to make the ball travel a straight line. With the wider arc, it becomes possible to start the clubhead down slowly and increase the momentum enroute, so that by the time the ball is reached it is traveling at great rapidity and at the same time with controlled smoothness.

Another factor of distinct aid is that muscles of the hips, back and midsection will thus cooperate in lending their power to the stroke. A wide backswing enables these muscles to be flexed to a great degree on the upstroke; a source of power not unlike a wound up spring or rubber band. When unleashed, at the proper moment, on the downswing, along with the power stored in the coiled wrists, they add tremendously to the speed and follow through properties of the club. If you find it impossible to lengthen the backswing appreciably at the start, persevere on a gradual scale and the muscles will not be long in responding.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Oshkosh at Green Bay.
Menasha at Grand Chute.
Appleton at Neenah.

THE Oshkosh Cubs, Northern Valley league leader, will attempt to increase their lead Sunday, when they invade Green Bay to meet the Thomas Drugs. This is the first appearance of the Sawdust city nine at the Bay as the Drugs are one of the two new clubs in the loop. Manager Roth of the leaders will depend on Alvin to pitch the Cubs to another win. Alvin has won six straight for Oshkosh since taking over the mound duties and has not received a setback. Dobish will be behind the plate.

Al Vanden Boom again will take the mound for Green Bay with Nockert's catching. Vanden Boom pitched steady ball all season but has lost some close games lately. A win for the Bays over the league leaders will give them an even rating in the percentage column.

The second place Neenah Merchants play host to Appleton. Neenah will be trying hard to get back in the win column after last week's setback at the hands of the leading Oshkosh nine.

Schultz and Handler will be the Neenah battery with Murphy and De Young for Appleton.

The Menasha Eagles meet Grand Chute at Appleton in the other league contest. The Chuters tipped Appleton last week in a 12 inning thriller and will be trying hard to continue in the win column. Notice is slated to pitch for Grand Chute with Huhn catching. For Menasha it will be either "Buster" Brown or Beach with Smarzenski doing the receiving.

30 Drivers Enter Roosevelt Races

Italian Driver Expected to Repeat as Fastest Performer

Westbury, N. Y. — (P) — Thirty racing drivers, attracted from several countries by a $70,000 purse, will seek to gain tomorrow the George Vanderbilt cup which Tazio Nuvolari, Italian, won last year with incredible ease.

The final qualifiers for the 300-mile race on the improved Roosevelt raceway will not be known until late today. The 30 starters will be chosen on the fastest times made in the qualifying tests.

Seeking to repeat last year's performance Nuvolari, the "Mad man of Modena," is back again, defiant of the glittering records of Bernard Rosemeyer and his German companions.

The performances of the foreigners in the trials have overshadowed the Americans. Wilbur Shaw, Watson, Rankin, Bray, Voster, Centner, struck out—by Blick 2; by Centner 1; bases on balls—off Blick 1; off Centner 0.

ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: Our wild, stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts, opens with the mysterious shooting to death of attractive Jude Blinshop. A series of strange attacks is apparently explained when we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff. Then Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder by an unseen hand, and the Skipper, Mike's tall, tweedy, younger aunt, disappears. Sleeping powders nearly finish Aunt Martha. Leaving Gay Palmer, Mike's fiancée, with her, Mike and I search the cellar, desperately hunting the Skipper.

Chapter 34
LOCKED IN
I TRIED the next closet and the next and the next. Splintered wood, broken glass, and a mess of fruits and vegetables. Mike took the ax from me and I stood hanging on to the light while he bashed in two more doors. Then I took another turn and he took another. Before the last closet we paused, looking at each other.
I went at it quietly. Perhaps we were lucky that it was to be in the last one I shuddered to think of the effect our mild smashing would have had on a person inside any of the others. It took more time this way. The wood gave way slowly with a dull, tearing sound. I seized a loose board and ripped it away--then another and another. Mike's face was turned away, his shoulders hunched. Snatching the light from his hand, I flashed it upon six orderly rows of canned lima beans.
"I suppose," poor Mike's voice was hollow, "the better get back to the others. They'll be wondering."
"Forget it!" His laugh was a pretty weak attempt. "Best! Will Aunt Martha be wild when she sees this?"
It struck me that M. Farrington might never see it.
We left the ax where we had found it, and started down the passage, our light flashing ahead of us. Mike's hand closed on my arm suddenly.
"Jim," he whispered, "wasn't there a light over the stairs?"
I stared into the blackness ahead, and my heart did a flip-flop.
"It was an old bulb," I said. "Probably burned out." But the echo of my voice wasn't reassuring. I breathed a sigh of relief as we gained the top of those tricky steps and my hand found the door knob.
Crashing In The Door
"What the devil's the matter?" demanded Michael.
I had to swallow before I could answer.
"The door's locked on the outside--bashed." The reflected light from the kitchen shown clearly through the keyhole when I extinguished our torch.
I handed Mike the flashlight and without a word he went back for the ax I put my shoulder to the door. It was useless. On that narrow top step there was barely room for steady footing, let alone for bracing yourself for a push. The steepness of the stairs made a running leap out of the question.
I was obliged to stand there waiting for Mike, my ears cocked for sounds from the kitchen beyond--sounds that never came. By the time an advancing ray of light appeared down the passage, my imagination had me on the run. I imagined that the killer had come down into the blackness of the cellar to finish his work. I imagined that I had sent Mike down to his death while I stood at a door, and swallowed hard.
"Here you are. Hurry!" Mike's voice was urgent.
It didn't take me 10 seconds to crash in that door.
With a screech of tearing wood, we tumbled pell-mell into the entry and threw open the kitchen door upon an empty room.
The picture in my mind sent me tearing up the back stairs. On the landing, Mike nearly knocked me down, attempting to pass me. I flung open M. Farrington's door, but Mike was into the room ahead of me.
M. Farrington was sleeping. Gay was sitting beside her, and in a far corner of the room William and Annie were whispering together. They all turned sharply toward us. "All right, I think," Gay answered our unspoken question. "Mike, what under the sun--?"
I interrupted her. It seemed to me that this was no place for telling the story.
"My fault, kid," I said. "I thought I'd had a revelation or something." "But--"
"Not here. Mike will tell you about it. You two go on down and start Hissant rustling up some food. I'll stay with Aunt Martha."
I shoved them both into the hall, still protesting. Why had William bolted that cellar door? I was almost positive that he had, and I was equally positive that there would be no use in asking him. He had certainly saved M. Farrington's life. But--at any rate, I sent both him and Annie down to help Cook. Alone, I sat down beside M. Farrington.
She looked better, but not enough better for much rejoicing. The Skipper's words, "Her heart is bad," were drumming in my head. Well, as long as she was sleeping there was nothing more we could do. Sitting there with anxious eyes glued to the old lady's face, I went through a bad half hour.
A Conviction Gnaaws Me
One terrible conviction was gnawing at me: persistently--the conviction that the Skipper alone was responsible for our week end of horrors. Her peculiar actions had born the direct cause of our presence at the Bluff. We had only her unsubstantiated story to explain her levitation, and that story was bizarre, to put it mildly.
It was possible, of course, but it was difficult to believe that Norman Farrington had lived all these

Pantry Lunches Take First Place By 11 to 4 Win

Thilmans are Losers as They Drop Game and Fall to 2nd Place

Kaukauna — Pantry Lunch stepped into first place of the Twilight Softball league by their defeat of the Thilmans 11-4 last night. The standings now have Thilmans in second and the remaining four league teams tied for third as the third round of play ends in the league.

Tonight's game will bring together the South Side Merchants and Kappels, both of whom have won their last games convincingly. The game will start the fourth round of play and break the third place tie.

The Pantry Lunch took advantage of the absence of Thilmans' ace hurler, George Block, and nicked the relief pitcher, Jack Verbeten, for nine hits, four of them bunched in their strong second inning, when the Lunch boys scored four times.

Pitches Good Game
Mike Gerharz pitched a tight game, allowing only four scattered hits and striking out three. Thilmans did not score until the fifth, when a walk and two hits gave them one run. They got three in the sixth, but by this time the Lunch outfit had tallied twice in the third, three times in the fifth, once in the sixth and twice in the seventh.

The winners connected for extra base hits that counted. Lambie got a homer with one on in the fifth. Art Francis connected for a triple in the sixth, and Charlie Block opened the second inning rally with a double. C. Kiffe doubled two men in for Thilmans in the sixth, and John Block got a two-bagger in the fifth.

Kaukauna Men Attend

Irish Banquet at Bay

Kaukauna — James F. Cavanaugh, superintendent of Kaukauna schools, and Dr. W. C. Sullivan attended the Irish Fellowship club banquet at the Columbus Community club, Green Bay, last night.

Install New Courts

And Diamond at Park

Kaukauna — New horseshoe courts and a new softball diamond are being laid out at LaFollette park by the city. The old diamond and courts were broken up with the construction of the new wading pool there.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Merites barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. James Lang is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

GIANT AIRLINER COMING

Pictured here is the giant Boeing airliner, one of the largest land planes in the country, which will be at the Whiting airport, Highway 41 between Appleton and Menasha, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The ship's local visit has been arranged by the H. R. Dutcher Motor Co., 210 N. Morrison street. Piloted by Captain Mac Gilmore, veteran transport flier, the plane will arrive here from Oshkosh at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. A party of Appleton business men will fly here from Oshkosh in the ship as guests of H. R. Dutcher.

The giant plane will take up passengers during its 3-day stay. It weighs more than nine tons, has a wingspread of 90 feet and carries 28 passengers. It cost more than $110,000 and has all safety devices, cloak rooms, hot and cold water, a lavatory, smoking compartment, radio and complete night flying equipment.

340 Pheasant Chicks are Being Raised by Kaw Club

Kaukauna — Matt Verfurth is president of the Kaukauna Conservation club, and with a sincere enthusiasm that's somewhat contagious, he tells you about those 340 pheasant chicks that the club got from the state conservation department Monday, aged one day, and about the grand job that Mrs. Conkey is doing at raising them on her farm just east of Highway 41 about a mile out of the city.

"We've lost only nine out of the 350, and that's a good percentage," Matt says. "You ought to see them. I was just out there this afternoon," and they look great.

You go out to Conkey's. I'll be glad to show you our little birds," the kindly little Mrs. Conkey tells you. "I just came back from the coop. A couple of them got outside and I had to catch them. They're too small to stay out all night."

Five Days Old
You see the flock of chicks. They are only five days old today, and their barred wing feathers are pushing through the yellowish down that covered them when they arrived Monday. They are just like regular chicks, you think, only not so chubby, and about ten times as lively. They all look alike, with those three brown stripes down their backs.

"What do you feed them?" you ask. "Well, the state sent some feed along. It's a certain kind of seed that's just right for them. They sent two hundred pounds, and that should take care of the chicks for the first two weeks. After that they'll get a coarser food from the state. They don't eat very much now, but they're just starting to grow."

Eat Lettuce
"I gave them two big bunches of lettuce yesterday, and they ate up every bit of it. Tony Rieth, the game warden, threw in some alfalfa for them too. The greens are good for them."

The chicks are just gathering under the brooder and getting ready for their night's sleep. The brooder is warmed up to about 90 degrees with an electric heater in the evening and then turned off. Mrs. Conkey explains. The coop is about 75 degrees in the morning. One chick had gotten outside Wednesday night, but wasn't bothered.

25 Cans of Pickerel
Sent to Wrong Place
Kaukauna — A consignment of 25 cans of pickerel, which were to be delivered to the Kaukauna conservation club by the state department of conservation early this week were mislabeled to Neenah, where Neenah conservationists placed them in Lake Winnebago. Kaukauna's club men had also expected to put them into the lake, but at Lower Cliff.

Postal Receipts are Same As in June, 1936
Kaukauna — Postal receipts for June were $1818.14, only 8 cents less than the $1826.22 receipts which were taken in over the same period in 1936. Postmaster Richard H. McCarty reported today.

COMPLETE WORK
Kaukauna — Remodeling of the front of the old Grand View hotel building has been completed, and workmen have moved to the interior, where they are redecorating.

COMPLETE CLEANUP
Kaukauna — Cleanup work on the debris left from the fire at the Central Bloc in March, has been completed and the building is now ready for reconstruction.

Standard Prices Are Set on Beer

Kaukauna Tavernkeepers Agree to Maintain Price Schedules

Kaukauna — The new standardized price on beer in Kaukauna taverns took effect yesterday, upon the agreement of the city tavernkeepers.

Nickel beer will be of 8-ounce size, and dime beer, 14 ounces. Bottle beer is 15 cents with special brands 20 cents. The new prices are no great change from former prices, Charles Schell, secretary of the Central Fox River Valley Tavernkeepers association said this morning.

There had been considerable variation on the dime beer, and there was no regular price for bottle beer before this, Schell explained.

Brewery price has not been raised now, although there was a slight increase a short time ago.

WILL BUY ROSE
Kaukauna — Recommendation for the purchase of 500 feet of hose for the fire department will be made to the city council next Tuesday, it was decided at a meeting of the commission at the Municipal building last night.

RUBBISH COLLECTION
Kaukauna — Rubbish collection on both sides of the city will not begin until Tuesday, July 6, according to notices published by north and south side road districts.

More Girls Than Boys Use Swimming Facilities in June

Kaukauna — Girls in Kaukauna like swimming better than the boys do, according to the figures on June swimmers in the municipal pool and the Fourth lock.

According to the reports of Clifford Kemp, recreational director, 3,130 girls and 3,015 boys swam at the Fourth lock during June. At the municipal pool there were 1,440 girls and 1,085 boys. At the adults' night in the pool there were 70 women and 58 men in attendance. The library playground had 1,780 children taking part in games and sports during June.

The figure for swimmers during June is about average for the month, Kemp said. He expects a sharp increase in July, however, since the first week of June was too cold for swimming.

Old Farmers are

Learning New Tricks

Stephensville, Tex. — Three bearded country gentlemen, all past 70 years of age, are learning new tricks in the farming business. They are R. M. Ford and J. B. Bunch of Johnsonville and W. R. Carter of Sheldon. Each has farmed in Erath county more than half a century. For the first time the aged men are treading their land, explaining that "when we came here over 50 years ago we shared the belief our farms would outlive us. Not so. We find it necessary to rebuild our soil."

The three veterans are using their own machinery in the terracing. Each is an active "farm hand."

College Men Rated as

World's Best Dressers

Hollywood, Calif. — No less an authority on men's attire than Adolphe Menjou says America's college boy is the "world's best dressed man."

Menjou, long considered an authority on dress, says sloppy socks, sweaters, open collars and sports shirts to the contrary, the collegian is still the world's best dressed man.

"His clothes may be conventional," says the dapper film star. "But comfort is now the last word in style, and the college man in America dresses for comfort."

Senior Boys Defeat

Kimberly, 14 to 4

Kaukauna — Kaukauna's senior boys came back from Kimberly yesterday with a 14-4 victory over the Kimberly boys in a softball game. Bill Alger and Lee Lambie pitched for Kaukauna and Steve Andrejeski caught.

HOPES FOR OIL STRIKE

Bombay — Workers sinking a well at Bhivandi near here came upon a substance believed to be rock oil. Tests were made on the spot and more exhaustive ones are contemplated. No oil-bearing deposits of any magnitude have been discovered in India.

NYA Projects in County Listed

List Is Sent to Madison Headquarters for Approval

Kaukauna — NYA projects proposed for Outagamie county for the next fiscal year have been outlined by Ben Faust, county supervisor whose office is in the Municipal building, and forwarded to the Madison office of the NYA for approval, he said today.

Before the next government allotment of cash can be received by Faust's office, approval of the projects has been planned must be acquired from the state NYA director. Allotments are made for 3-month periods.

The Outagamie county district, which includes some neighboring territory besides the county, received a total of $7,200 in allotments in the first year of the NYA activity.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary — and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food — not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Scouts to Make Plans for Summer Outing Tonight

Kaukauna — A committee meeting of scouts making preparations for Troop 20's summer party will be held tonight at the home of Wallace Mooney, scoutmaster, 107 Sarah street. Committee members are Russell Toms, Jack Lindstrom, Richard Hoehne, and Karl Miller.

Arrangements will be made for the holding of eight different contests in scouting practices at the party. The contests will include such events as tent pitching, first aid, knot tying, Paul Revere race.

here. Faust's jurisdiction applies to young people from 18 to 25 in the county, and to schools from Appleton, De Pere, Hilbert and territory within those points.

THAT'S ALL!

"Are that's reason enough for insisting on Kellogg's Corn Flakes. No substitute can match their crispness and flavor!"

No wonder housewives prefer Kellogg's! They're made better. Packed better. Taste better. The only corn flakes kept oven-fresh by the patented heat-sealed inner wrapper.

At all grocers, ready to serve with

Says Farm News Good Antidote For Pessimism

Babson Finds Best Agricultural Outlook Since 1929

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Farm troubles and Congressional jockeying are providing spectacular newspaper headlines. More basic and more important news, however, is being made out in the farm country. There nobody is being shot; while the mails are being delivered as usual. But the cultivators and threshers are working over-time for this is the busiest year on the American farm in almost a decade.

City folks do not realize the powerful position the farmer holds in our economy. The 1934 and 1936 droughts unconsciously gave us the impression that crop failures build prosperity. A short crop this year combined with the cloud of pessimism hanging over the business world would have been a disaster of world-wide magnitude. There are no big carry-overs of grain and livestock from last season to make up for drought losses either here or abroad. There can still be trouble, however. Black rust has ruined many a likely-looking crop. Reports of rust in the spring wheat belt are daily becoming more numerous. As usual, they are probably exaggerated.

Rare Combination
Bumper crops ordinarily mean a sharp break in prices. Some drop has already taken place at Chicago where wheat has fallen from $1.40 to $1.20 a bushel. Even with "dollar wheat", however, most of our farmers can pay up their old bills, "trade in" their tractors, take in the county fair, and have enough left over to do a good job on the mail-order catalogues. This season is going to be an extraordinary one. Not only should wheat continue to sell well above the "dollar" mark, but it looks like the best crop since 1931—big enough to allow us to ship wheat abroad for the first time since that year. This is a rare combination. Not since 1929 have we had both a good crop and a good price in the same season!

Maybe I am stressing wheat prospects too much for the income from this grain represents about 10 per cent of our total annual farm income. Its importance and popularity arise from the fact that wheat and cotton are the farmers' outstanding cash products. To the average city person, wheat is the symbol of "big American farming." Actually, the more prosaic products, such as corn, milk, and vegetables each bring more money into the farmers' money bags. But wheat is the bellwether of the farm year. It is the season's "lead-off" crop. Usually, "as wheat goes, so goes the farm year." If we have a big winter wheat harvest, we can ordinarily expect good feed and forage crops and plenty of milk and eggs.

Crops In Good Shape
It is too early to make any definite statements about corn. Planting was unusually late, but good rains during the Winter and Spring have replenished much sub-soil moisture drained away in the last three years. July is the critical month for this vital feed crop. A lot can happen between now and August first. Cotton also has yet to pass through its test period. Most of the other leading crops are now in such good shape that only extremely poor weather in July can severely injure them. Pastures and ranges alone are better than the average season. Truck gardens, fruit orchards, hay fields, and early potatoes are in good condition. Even egg and milk production are higher than usual at this season. This is a farm year!

Total income of American husbandmen in the low year of the depression reached only $3,400,000,000. Now, four short years later, average prices are 130 per cent higher than they were at the low in 1933. At wholesale, wheat is up 140 per cent, corn 380 per cent, hogs 270 per cent, eggs and poultry 120 per cent, and milk and butter 60 per cent. Housekeepers are well aware of this even though their weekly retail bill for foods has not advanced half as much as wholesale quotations. The big rises in prices, plus a good harvest, should boost farm income to around $9,000,000,000 this season—15 per cent above a year ago, and the highest total since 1929.

New Groups To Benefit
Higher prices for their short crops have pulled most farmers through the drought years, but the "service" people have been hit hard. Commission houses, grain elevators, storage concerns, and the like are geared to handle mammoth harvests. They starve on crop failures. Grain traffic totals more than 30 per cent of some granger railroads' revenues. A short crop this year would have dealt these roads a death-blow! Then, too, good harvests everywhere at good prices mean everyone gets his share of the income. Some sections have not "had a crop" since 1931! This year, all farm areas with the exception of sections of eastern Montana, the western Dakotas, west-central Kansas and northwestern Oklahoma, should have good harvests.

A bright season for the farmer in 1937 is a particularly fortunate "break" for the factory-worker. In all my years of studying the business cycle and public sentiment, I have never seen confidence change so rapidly as it has this year. Males are shutting-down; forward-buying has stopped; investors are nervous. The temporary problems which are troubling the business world, however, will be settled eventually. Nevertheless, it will take some convincing announcement from Washington, some reassuring news from Europe, or some bullish report from the business front to yank confidence out of its slump. To slump that spark, I am pinning my hopes on crop reports and farm news.

Good Retail Outlook
There are 32,000,000 people in the United States whose livelihood directly depends upon farms. There are 24,000,000 others who live in rural communities. Canada has an additional 5,500,000 non-urban population. For years these groups have been scraping by. This season they will have good crops, good prices, and a good income. Thus, after a decade of relative depression, nearly half our population will enjoy their first year of real prosperity. At the same time, 12,000,000 who work in factories will earn around $30,000,000 more per week than they did a year ago, while investors' dividend checks will be at least $100,000,000 greater. These facts add up to only one conclusion: GOOD RETAIL TRADE THIS AUTUMN!

Waupaca Woman Sails On Voyage to Europe

Waupaca—Miss Nelle Scott was to sail Friday from New York city with a Lawrence college tour, for Europe, where seven countries will be included in the itinerary. Her sister, Mrs. Jennie Gathers of Baltimore, is in the city at the home of their brother, M. B. Scott, during the absence of Miss Scott.

Mrs. Ed Court accompanied her father, Jacob Baldauf, of Weyauwega to Eden Center, N. Y., where they will attend the funeral of a brother of Mr. Baldauf. They left Tuesday.

Mrs. William Cowan left Tuesday for Escanaba, Mich., after spending two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Valentine.

Miss Elizabeth Ritchie will leave the last of the week for Medford where she will spend her vacation with her sister, Mrs. William McFetridge. Miss Ritchie is employed in the office of C. H. Bacher, county superintendent of schools.

E. W. Browne has recently sold some property on Nessling lake to Mrs. M. S. Carter, who with her daughter, Ruth, will occupy it until fall.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Stevenson, Richman, Ind., are spending several weeks at Wilderness Cove, Columbian lake. Mrs. Stevenson, nee Bertha Riedl, was a former teacher in the schools of Waupaca.

Mrs. Frank Hoffmann, nee Mary Finch, and son Frank the third, of New York city, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Finch on Round Lake, for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mortenson and children are spending the summer at their cottage on Round lake. Mrs. Marcus Hobart of Evanston, Ill., and son Robert, are spending several days with her parents, Attorney and Mrs. E. W. Browne.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Cheek of Waldo spent Wednesday in Waupaca visiting friends. They had spent a few days in Weyauwega with their son, Carleton, and family.

The Misses Louise and Helen Sill entertained the Sunday school teachers of the Methodist church at a shower complimentary to Mrs. Kenneth Wald, at their home Wednesday evening.

years unknown to his own son. Was it plausible that Martha Farrington, who possessed above all things a generous amount of common sense, would have insisted upon harboring a dangerous lunatic in that deserted spot?

Another stumbling block was the presence of Judge Blinship. Surely a person of the Skipper's determination could have found a dozen pretexts for revoking a common-place invitation when she realized the very real danger involved. And why the unusual attitude of both sisters toward poor Jude? With Michael flaunting Gay under M. Farrington's nose, the old lady had almost ignored Judge. And the Skipper's "Keep Michael away from parlors Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Alice Bliss in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Peterson and daughter, Judith, left Tuesday for St. Louis where they will spend several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wildfang spent the weekend in Sparta, returning Tuesday. They were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hopkins.

Mrs. Sim Shambeau and daughter Barbara spent several days in Edgerton and Lake Geneva, returning Tuesday.

Miss Virginia Halderson, niece of Mrs. Sim Shambeau, of Medina, Ohio, is visiting at the Shambeau home.

Jude!" still rang in my ears—unexplained.

Step by step I once more reconstructed the events of the case. We had come there because of the Skipper. Her attitude had been strange, particularly in regard to Judge. She had been out of doors for an indefinite space of time on the night of the girl's death, and her actions were none too satisfactorily accounted for. She would have known more about the whereabouts of firearms at the Bluff than anyone else in the house. And Jude would have followed the Skipper into the storm without a moment's hesitation.

She had been in my own sight during the episodes of Cook, Annie and Christopher, and she had been in the sight of all the others when William and I met our assailant. But again, we had Norman Farrington to reckon with.

SUCCEEDS TOO WELL
Berkeley, Calif.—It was the ambition of Timothy Pearson, 13 years old, to make "a real auto" out of packing crates and the motor from a washing machine. He succeeded. Deciding the contraption was a "motor propelled vehicle," police took him to court to explain numerous violations of the state law.
